May it please your Grace, a should did it said grand

HE favour which Heroick Plays have lately found upon our Theaters has been wholly deriv'd to them, from the countenance and approbation they have received at Court. The most eminent perfons for Wit and Honour in the Royal Circle baving fo far own'd them, that they have judg'd no way fo fit as Verfe to entertain a Noble Audience, or to express a noble paffion. And amongst the rest which have been written in this kind, they bave been foundulgent to this Poem, as to allow it no inconsiderable place. Since therefore to the Court I owe its fortune on the Stage, fo, being now more publickly expos d in Print, I bumbly recommend it to your Graces Protection, who by all knowing persons are esteem'd a Principal Ornament of the Court. But though the rank which you hold in the Royal Family, might direct the Eyes of a Poet to you, yet your beauty and goodness detain and fix them : High Objects, 'tis true, attract the fight; but it looks up with pain on Craggy Rocks and Barren Mountains, and continues not intent on any object, which is wanting in flades and greens to entertain it. Beauty, in Courts, is fo necessary to the young, that those who are without it, feem to be there no other purpose then to wait upon the triumphs of the fair; to attend their motions in obscurity, as the Moon and Stars do the Sun by day, or at best to be the refuge of those bearts which which others have despised; and, by the unworthiness of both, to give and take a miferable comfort. But as needful as beauty is, Virtue, and Honour are yet more: the reign of it without their Support is unsafe and short like that of Tyrants. Every Sun which looks on Beauty wasts it; and, when once it is decaying, the repairs of Art are of as fort continuance, as the after Spring, when the Sun is going farther off. This Madam, is its ordinary Fate; but yours which is accompanied by Virtue, is not subject to that common destiny. Tour Grace bas not only a long time of Youth to flourish in, but you have likewise found the way by an untainted prefervation of your Honour, to make that perishable good more lasting. And if Beauty like Wines could be prefere'd, by being mix'd and embodied with others of their own natures, then your Graces would be immortal, fince no part of Europe can afford a parallel to your Noble Lord, in masculine Beauty, and in goodliness of Shape. To receive the bleffings and prayers of mankind, you need only be feen together; we are ready to conclude that you are a pair of Angels fent below to make Virtue amiable in your perfons, or to fit to Poets when they would pleafamly instruct the Age, by drawing goodness in the most perfect and alluring Skape of Nature. But though Beauty be the Theme, on which Poets tone to dwell, I must be forc'd to quit it as a private praise, since you have deserved those which are more publick. For Goodness and Humanity, which shine in you, are Virtues which concern Manhind, and by a certain kind of interest all people agree in their commendation, because the profit of them may extend to many. 'Tie

The Epistle Dedicatory.

'Tis fo much your inclination to do good that you flay not to be ask'd; which is an approach fo nigh the Deity, that Humane Nature is not capable of a nearer. 'Tis my Happinefs that I can testifie this Virtue of your Graces by my own experience; fince I have fo great an aversion from solliciting Court Favours, that I am ready to look on those as very bold, who dare grow rich there without defert. But I beg your Graces pardon for affuming this Virtue of Modesty to my felf, which the fequel of this discourse will no way justifie. For in this address I have already quitted the character of a modest Man, by presenting you this Poem as an acknowledgment, which flands in need of your protection; and which ought no more to be efteemed a Prefent, then it is accounted bounty in the Poor, when they bestow a Child on Some wealthy Friend, who will better breed it up. Offsprings of this Nature are like to be so numerous with me, that I must be forc'd to fend some of them abroad; only this is like to be more fortunate then his Brothers, because I have landed him on a Hofpitable fbore. Under your Patronage Montezuma hopes he is more safe than in his Native Indies: and therefore comes to throw bimself at your Graces feet; paying that homage to your Beauty, which he refus'd to the violence of his Conquerours. He begs only that when he shall relate his sufferings, you will consider him as an Indian Prince, and not expect any other Eloquence from bis simplicity, then what his griefs have furnished him withal. His flory is, perhaps the greatest, which was ever represented in a Poem of this nature; (the action of it including the Discovery and Conquest of a New World.) by it I have neither wholly follow'd the truth of the History, nor altogether left it: but have taken all the liberty of a Poet, to adde, alter, or diminish, as I thought might best conduce to the beautifying of my work. It being not the business of a Poet to represent truth, but probability. But I am not to make the justification of this Poem, which I wholly leave to your Graces mercy. 'Tis an irregular piece if compard with many of Corneilles, and, if I may make a judgement of it, written with more Flame then Art; in which it represents the mind and intentions of the Author, who is with much more Zeal and Integrity, then Design and Artifice,

And most Obliged Servant,

Connexion of the Indian Emperour, to the Indian Queen.

HE Conclusion of the Indian Queen, (part of which Poem was writ by me) left little matter for another Story to be built on, there remaining but two of the considerable Characters alive, (viz.) Montezuma, and Orazia; thereupon the Author of this, thought it necessary to produce new persons from the old ones; and considering the late Indian Queen, before she lov'd Montezuma, liv'd in clandestine Marriage with her General Traxalla; from those two, he has rais'd a Son and two Daughters, supposed to be left young Orphans at their Death: On the other side, he has given to Montezuma and Orazia, two Sons and a Daughter; all now supposed to be grown up to Mens and Womens Estate; and their Mother Orazia (for whom there was no surther use in the story) lately dead.

So that you are to imagine about Twenty years elapted fince the Coronation of Montezuma; who, in the Truth of the History, was a great and glorious Prince; and in whose time happened the Liscovery and Invasion of Maxico by the Spaniards; under the conduct of Hernands Correx, who, joyning with the Taxallan-Indians, the inveterate Enemies of Montezuma, wholly Subverted that flourishing Empire; the Conquest of which, is the Subject of this Dramatique Poem.

I have neither wholly followed the flory nor varied from it; and, as near as I could, have traced the Native simplicity and ignorance of the Indians, in relation to European Customes: The Shipping, Armour, Horses, Swords, and Guns of the Spaniards, being as new southern as their Habits, and their Language.

The difference of their Religion from ours, I have taken from the Story it felf; and that which you find of it in the first and fifth Acts, touching the sufferings and constancy of Montezums in his Opinions, I have only illustrated, not alter'd from those who have written of it.

The Names of the Persons Represented.

Guyomar, his Younger Son.

Prologue.

Lmighty Critiques ! whom our Indians bere Worship, just as they do the Devil, for fear. In reverence to your pow'r I come this day To give you timely warning of our Play. The Scenes are old, the Habits are the Same, We wore laft year, before the Spaniards came. Our Prologue, th' old-caft too----For to observe the new it should at least Be Spoke, by some ingenious Bird or Beaft. Now if you ftay, the blood that fhall be feed From this poor Play, be all upon your bead. We neither promise you one Dance, or Show, Then Plot and Language they are wanting too: But you, kind Wits, will those light faults excuse : Those are the common frailties of the Muse; Which who observes he buyes his place too dear : For 'tis your business to be coun'ned bere. These wretched spies of wit must then confess They take more pains to please themselves the less. Grant us such Judges, Phoebus me request, As ftill mistake themselves into a jest ; Such easie Judges, that our Poet may Himfelf admire the fortune of bis Play. And arrogantly, as his fellows do. Think be writes well, because be pleases you. This be conceives not hard to bring about If all of you would join to belp bim out. Would each mantake but what be understands, And leave the rest upon the Poets bands.

ACT I. SCENE I.

The Scene a pleafant Indian Country.

Enter Cortez, Vasquez, Pizarro, with Spaniards and Indians of their party. . the indian joyn the Indian to labour.

N what new happy Climate are we thrown, So long kept fecret, and to lately known Asif our old world modeftly withdrew,

And here, in private, had brought forth a new! Vafq. Corn, Wine, and Oyl are wanting to this groundel

In which our Countries fruitfully abound and and an all and and an all an all and an all an all and an all an all and an all a No useful Arts have yet found footing here;

But all untaught and falvage does appear.

Cort. Wild and untaught are Terms which we alone now in the strength of the st

But we, by Art, unteach what Nature taught. Piz. In Spain our Springs, like Old Mens Children, be Decay'd and wither'd from their Infancy : No kindly showers fall on our barren earth, To hatch the feafons in a timely birth. Our Summer fuch a Ruffet Livery wears,

As in a Garment often dy'd appears.

Cort. Here nature spreads her fruitful sweetness round. Breaths on the Air and broods upon the ground. Here days and nights the only season be, The Sun no Climat does fo gladly fee: When forc'd from hence, to view out parts, hemoures.

Takes full foulnits, Ind makes quick returns vald. Methinks we wall in dreams on fairy Land, Where golden Ore lies mixt with common fand; Each downfal of a flood the Mountains pour, From their rich bowels rolls a filver shower. Cort. Heaven from all ages wifely did provide This wealth, and for the bravest Nation hide, Who with four hundred foot and forty horse, We boldly go a New found World to force. Piz. Our men, though Valiant, we should find too few, But Indians joyn the Indians to Subdue, Taxallan, shook by Monter umas powers, Has to resist his forces, call d in ours, Vafq. Rafhly to arm against lo great a King I hold not fafe, har is it ht to bring A War, without a fair defiance made. Piz, Declare we first pur quarrel : then Invade. My felf, my Kings Amballadour, will go;
Speak Indian Guide, how far to Mexico oak Indian Guide, how far to Mexico?
Indi. Your eyes can scarce so far a prospect make, As to discern the City on the Lake. But that broad Cauf-way, will direct your way, And you may reach the Town by noon of day. Cort. A Temple, and the high Prieft with other Priefts.

To them an Indian.

Ind. Hafte Holy Prieft it is the Kings command.

High Pr. When gets he forward?

Ind. He is near at hand.

High Pr. The Incense is upon the Altar plac'd,

The bloody Sacrifice already past.

Five hundred Captives faw the rifing Sun,

Who loft their light ere half his race was run.

That which remains we here must celebrate;

Where far from noise, without the City gate,

The peaceful power that governs love repairs,

To feast upon soft vows and filent pray'rs.

We for his Royal presence only stay,

To end the rights of this so solemn day:

Enter Montezuma; bis eldest son Odmar; bis

Daughter Cydaria, Almeria, Alibech, Orbellan, and Train. They place themselves.

Callib. On your birth day, while we fing

To our Gods and to our King,

Her, among this beauteous quire,

Whose perfections you admire,

Her, who fairest does appear,

Crown her Queen of all the year.

Of the year and of the day,

And at her feet your Garland lay.

odm. My Father this way does his looks direct,

Heaven grant he give it not where I suspect.

Montezuma rifes, goes about the Ladies, and at length stays at Almeria and bows.

Mont. Since my Orazia's death I have not feen

A beauty fo deferving to be Queen

As fair Almeria.

My birth I to that injur'd Princes owe, Whom his hard heart not only love deny'd, But in her sufferings took unmanly pride.

STo ber Brother and Sifter aside.

Alib. Since Montezuma will his choice renew,

In dead Orazia's room electing you,

Twill please our Mothers Ghost that you succeed

To all the glories of her Rivals bed.

Alm. If news be carried to the shades below, The Indian Queen will be more pleas'd, to know That I his scorns on him, that scorn'd her, pay.

Orb. Would you could right her some more noble way.

She turns to him who is kneeling

Mont. Madam, this posture is for Heaven design'd, [Kneeling.

And what moves Heaven I hope may make you kind.

Alm. Heaven may be kind, the Gods uninjur'd live,

And crimes below cost little to forgive.

By thee, Inhumane, both my Parents dy'd; One by thy fword, the other by thy pride.

Mont. My haughty mind no fate could ever bow,

Yet I must stoop to one that scorns me now:

Is there no pity to my fufferings due?

Alm. As much as what my mother found from you.

Mont. Your mothers wrongs a recompence shall meet,

I lay my Scepter at her Daughters feet.

Alm. He, who does now my least commands obey,

Would call me Queen, and take my pow'r away.

Odm. Can he hear this, and not his Fetters break?

Is love fo pow'rful, or his foul fo weak?

I'le fright her from it, Madam, though you fee

The King is kind, I hope your modesty

Willknow, what distance to the Crown is due.

Alm. Distance and modesty prescrib'd by you?

Odm. Almeria dares not think such thoughts as these.

Alm. She dares both think and all what thoughts the please.

Tis much below me on his Throne to fit 5

(5)

odw. If, Sir, Almeria does your bed partake, nourn for my forgotten mothers fake.

Mont. When Parents loves are order'd by a Son, Let streams prescribe their fountains where to run.

odm. In all I urge I keep my duty still,

Not rule your reason, but instruct your will.

Mont. Small use of reason in that Prince is shown,

Who follows others, and neglects his own.

Almeria to Orbellan and Alibech, who are this while whifpering to her.

Alm. No, he shall ever love, and always be

The subject of my scorn and cruelty.

orb. To prove the lasting torment of his life,

You must not be his Mistress, but his Wife.

Few know what care, an Husbands peace destroys, His real griefs, and his diffembled joys.

Alm. What mark of pleafing vengeance could be flown

If I to break his quiet lose my own?

orb. A brothers life upon your love relies, Since I do homage to Cydarias eyes:

How can her Father to my hopes be kind

If, in your heart, he no example find,

Alm. To fave your life I'le suffer any thing,
Yet I'le not flatter this tempestuous King;
But work his stubborn soul a nobler way,
And, if he love, I'le force him to obey.
I take this Garland, not as given by you,
But as my merit, and my beauties due.

As for the Crown that you, my flave, posses,
To share it with you would but make me less.

Enter Guyomar baftily.

Odm. My brother Gnyomar! methinks I spyc. Hast in his steps, and wonder in his eye.

Mont. I fent thee to the frontiers, quickly tell
The cause of thy return, are all things well?

Guy. I went, in order, Sir, to your command, To view the utmost limits of the land:

baftily.

To

to Montez.

To that Sea shore where no more world is found,
But soaming billows breaking on the ground,
Where, for a while, my eyes no object met
But distant skies that in the Ocean set:
And low hung clouds that dipt themselves in rain
To shake their sleeces on the earth again.
At last, as far as I could cast my eyes
Upon the Sea, somewhat, methought did rise
Like blewish mists, which still appearing more,
Took dreadful shapes, and mov'd towards the shore.

Mont. What forms did these new wonders represent?

Guy. More strange than what your wonder can invent. The object I could first distinctly view
Was tall straight trees which on the waters flew,
Wings on their sides instead of leaves did grow,
Which gather'd all the breath the winds could blow.

And at their roots grew floating Palaces, Whose out-bow'd bellies cut the yielding Seas.

Mont. What Divine Monsters, O ye gods, were these That float in air and flye upon the Seas?

Came they alive or dead upon the shore?

Guy. Alas, they liv'd too fure, I heard them roar:
All turn'd their fides, and to each other spoke,
I saw their words break out in fire and smoke.
Sure 'tis their voice that Thunders from on high,
Or these the younger brothers of the Skie.
Deaf with the noyse I took my hasty flight,
No mortal courage can support the fright.

High Pr. Old Prophecies foretel our fall at hand, When bearded men in floating Castles Land,

I fear it is of dire portent.

Mont. — Go fee

What it fore-shows, and what the gods decree. Mean time proceed we to what rites remain, Odmar, of all this presence does contain, Give her your wreath whom you esteem most fair. Odm. Above the rest I judge one beauty rare,

And may that beauty prove as kind to me As I am fure fair Alibech is she, He gives Alibech the wreath.

Mont. You Guyomar must next perform your part. Guy. I want a Garland, but I'le give a heart:

My brothers pardon I must first implore, Since I with him fair Alibech adore.

Odm. That all should Alibech adore 'tis true, But some respect is to my birth-right due.

My claim to her by Eldership I prove.

Guy. Age is a plea in Empire, not in Love. Odm. I long have staid for this solemnity

To make my passion publick.

Guy. So have I.

Odm. But from her birth my foul has been her slave, My heart receiv'd the first wounds that she gave: I watcht the early glories of her Eyes,

As men for day break watch the eaftern Skies.

Gny. It feems my foul then mov'd the quicker pace,

Yours first fet out, mine reach'd her in the race.

Mont. Odmar, your choice I cannot disapprove; Nor justly Guyomar, can blame your love.

To Alibeeb alone refer your fuit,

And let her fentence finish your dispute.

with. You think me Sir a Mistress quickly won,

So foon to finish what is scarce begun:
In this surprise should I a judgment make,
'T is answering Riddles ere I'm well awake:
If you oblige me suddenly to chuse,
The choice is made, for I must both refuse.

For to my felf I owe this due regard.

Not to make love my gift, but my reward,

Time best will show whose services will last.

Odm. Then judge my future service by my past. What I shall be by what I was, you know,

That love took deepest root which first did grow.

Guy. That love which first was fet will first decay,

Mine of a fresher date will longer stay.

Odm. Still you forget my birth.

-But you, I fee, Take care still to refresh my memory. Mont. My Sons, let your unfeemly discord cease, If not in friendship live at least in peace. Orbellan, where you love bestow your wreath. orb. My love I dare not, ev'n in whispers breath. Mont. A vertuous Love may venture any thing: orb. Not to attempt the Daughter of my King? Mont. Whither is all my former fury gone? Once more I have Traxalla's chains put on, And by his Children am in triumph led, Too well the living have reveng'd the dead ! Alm. You think my brother born your enemy, He's of Traxalla's blood, and fo am I. Mont. In vain I strive, My Lyon-heart is with Loves toyls befet, Strugling I fall still deeper in the net. Cydaria your new lovers Garland take, And use him kindly for your Fathers fake. Cyd. So strong an hatred does my nature sway, That spight of duty I must disobey. Befides you warn'd me still of loving two, Can I love him already loving you? Mont. How now Enter a Guard bastily. You look amaz'd as if some sudden fear Had feiz'd your hearts, is any danger near? I Guard. Behind the covert where this Temple Stands, Thick as the shades, there iffue swarming bands Of ambush'd men, whom, by their arms and dress, To be Taxcallan Enemies I guess. Another Enters. 2 Guard. The Temple, Sir, is almost compast round, Mont. Some speedy way for passage must be found. Make to the City by the Postern Gate, I'le either force my Victory, or Fate; A glorious death in arms I'le rather prove,

Than stay to perish tamely by my Love.

An Alarm within, Enter Montez. Odm. Guy. Alib, Orb. Cyd. Alms as purfued by Taxall ans.

Mont. No fuccour from the Town?

Odm.—None, none is nigh.

Guy. We are inclos dand must resolve to dye.

Mont. Fight for revenge now hope of life is past,

But one stroke more and that will be my last.

Enter Cortez, Vasquez, Pizarro, to the Taxallans, Cort. stays them, just falling on.

Cort. Contemn'd? my orders broke even in my fight! S To his Did I not strictly charge you should not fight? Ind. Your choler, General, does unjustly rife, To fee your Friends pursue your Enemies ; The greatest and most cruel foes we have Are these whom you would ignorantly save, By ambush'd men, behind their Temple laid, We have the King of Mexico betray'd. Cort. Where banish'd Vertue, wilt thou shew thy face If treachery infects thy Indian race! Dismis your rage, and lay your weapons by: Know I protect them, and they shall not dye. Ind. O wond'rous mercy shown to foes distrest! Cort. Call them not so, when once with odds opprest, Nor are they Foes my clemency defends, Until they have refus'd the name of Friends: Draw up our Spaniards by themselves, then Fire To Vafq. Our Guns on all that do not straight retire. Ind. O mercy, mercy, at thy feet we fall, Ind, kneeling. Before thy roaring gods destroy us all; See we retreat without the least reply, The Taxallans retire. Keep thy gods filent, if they fpeak we dye. Mont. The fierce Taxallans lay their weapons down, Some miracle in our relief is shown. Guy. These bearded men, in shape and colour be Like those I saw come floating on the Sea. [Mont. kneels to Cort.

Mont.

Mont. Patron of Mexica and god of Wars, Son of the Sun, and brother of the Stars.

Cort. Great Monarch, your devotion you misplace. Mont. Thy actions show thee born of Heavenly Race,

If then thou art that cruel god, whose eyes Delight in Blood, and Humane Sacrifice. Thy dreadful Altars I with Slaves will ffore, And feed thy noffrile with hot reeking gore ; Or if that mild and gentle god thou be. Who dost mankind below with pity fee, With breath of incense we will glad thy heart,

But if like us, of mortal feed thou are.

Prefents of choicest Fowls, and Fruits I'le bring. And in my Realms thou shalt be more then King.

Cort. Monarch of Empires, and deferving more Then the Sun fees upon your Western shore; Like you a man, and hither led by fame, Not by constraint but by my choice I came ; Ambassadour of Peace, if Peace you chuse, Or Herauld of a War if you refuse.

Mont. Whence or from whom dost thou these offers bring? Cort. From Charles the Fifth, the Worlds most Potent King.

Mont. Some perry Prince, and one of little fame,

For to this hour I never heard his name : The two great Empires of the World I know, That of Peru, and this of Mexico

And fince the earth none larger does afford, This Charles is some poor Tributary Lord.

Cort. You fpeak of that fmall part of earth you know, But betwixt us and you wide Oceans flow. And watry defarts of so vast extent. That paffing hither, four Full Moons we spent.

Mont. But fay, what news, what offers doft thou bring

From fo remote, and fo unknown a King? While Vala. Vafq. Spain's mighty Monarch, to whom Heaven thinks fiebeakr, Cort. fpies sbe Ladies That all the Nations of the Earth fubmit, and goer to shementeriais- In gracious clemency, does condescend with Guership On these conditions to become your Friend, is duab fo.m.

First,

First, that of him you shall your Scepter hold, Next, you present him with your useless Gold: Last, that you leave those Idols you implore,

And one true Deity with him adore.

Mont. You speak your Prince a mighty Emperour, But his demands have spoke him Proud, and Poor; He proudly at my free-born Scepter flies, Yet poorly begs a mettal I despile.
Gold thou may'st take, what-ever thou canst find, Save what for sacred uses is design'd:
But, by what right pretends your King to be
This Soveraign Lord of all the World, and me?

Piz. The Soveraign Priest,—— Who represents on Earth the pow'r of Heaven,

Has this your Empire to our Monarch given.

Mont. Ill does he represent the powers above,
Who nourishes debate not Preaches love;
Besides what greater folly can be shown?
He gives another what is not his own.

Vafq. His pow'r must needs unquestion'd be below,

For he in Heaven an Empire can bestow.

Mont. Empires in Heaven he with more ease may give, And you perhaps would with least thanks receive; But Heaven has need of no such Vice-roy here, It felf bestows the Crowns that Monarchs wear.

Piz. You wrong his power as you mistake our end,

Who came thus far Religion to extend.

Mont. He who Religion truely understands Knows its extent must be in Men, not Lands.

odm. But who are those that truth must propagate

Within the confines of my Fathers state?

Nasq. Religious Men, who hither must be sent As awful guidesof Heavenly Government; To teach you Penance, Fasts, and Abstinence, To punish Bodies for the Souls offence.

Mont. Cheaply you fin, and punish crimes with eafe,

Not as th' offended, but th' offenders pleafe.

Piz. You shall not want, each Village shall have some 3

Who, though the Royal Dignity they own, Are equal to it, and depend on none.

Guy. Depend on none! you treat them fure in state,

For 'tis their plenty does their pride create.

Mont. Those ghostly Kings would parcel out my pow'r, And all the fatness of my Land devour; That Monarch sits not fafely on his Throne,

Who bears, within, a power that shocks his own, They teach obedience to Imperial sway,

But think it fin if they themselves obey.

Vasq. It feems then our Religion you accuse, And peaceful homage to our King refuse.

Mont. Your gods I flight not, but will keep my own,

My Crown is absolute, and holds of none;
I cannot in a base subjection live,

Nor suffer you to take, though I would give.

Cort. Is this your answer Sir?

Mont. This as a Prince,

Bound to my Peoples and my Crowns defence, I must return, but, as a man by you

Redeem'd from death, all gratitude is due.

Cort. It was an act my Honour bound me to,
But what I did were I again to do,
I could not do it on my Honours score,
For Love would now oblige me to do more.

Is no way left that we may yet agree? Must I have War, yet have no Enemy?

Vasq. He has refus'd all terms of Peace to take.

First, to preserve this Antient State and me,
But if your doom the fall of both decree,
Grant only he who has such Honour shown,
When I am dust, may fill my empty Throne.

Cort

Cort. To make me happier than that wish can do, Lies not in all your gods to grant but you; Let this fair Princes but one minute stay, A look from her will your obligements pay.

Exeunt Mont. Odm. Guy. Orbel. Alm. and Alib.

Mont. to Cyd. Your duty in your quick return be shown,
Stay you, and wait my Daughter to the Town. To his Guards.

Cyd. is going, but turns and looks back upon Cortez, who is loooking on her

Cort. Like Travellers that wander in the Snow,

Cyd. Thick breath, quick pulse, and heaving of my heart,

All figns of fome unwonted change appear :

I find my felf unwilling to depart,

And yet I know not why I would be here. Stranger you raife fuch ftorms within my breaft,

That when I go, if I must go again;
I'le tell my Father you have rob'd my rest,
And to him of your injuries complain.

Cort. Unknown, I fwear those wrongs were which I wrought,

Who from another world my freedom brought, And by your conquering Eyes have lost it here.

Cyd. Where is that other world from whence you came?

Cort. Beyond the Ocean, far from hence it lies.

Cyd. Your other world, I fear, is then the same

That souls must go to when the body dies.

But what's the cause that keeps you here with me?

That I may know what keeps me here with you?

Cort. Mine is a love which must perpetual be,

If you can be so just as I am true.

Orb. Your Father wonders much at your delay.

Cyd. So great a wonder for fo fmall a fray ! Orb. He has commanded you with me to go. Enter Orb.

Cyd. Has he not fent to bring the stranger too?

Orb. If he to morrow, dares in fight appear,

His high plac'd Love, perhaps may cost him dear.

Cort. Dares---- that word was never spoke to Spaniard yet,

But forfeited his Life that gave him it;

Hast quickly with thy pledge of safety hence,

Thy guilt's protected by her innocence.

Cyd. Sure in some fatal hour my Love was born,

So soon o'reast with absence in the morn!

Cort. Turn hence those pointed glories of your Eyes,
For if more charms beneath those Circles rise,
So weak my Vertue, they so strong appear,
I shall turn ravisher to keep you here.

ACT II.

SCENE, The Magitians Cave.

Enter Montezuma, High Prieft.

Mont. OT that I fear the utmost Fate can do,
Come I th' event of doubtful War to know,
For Life and Death are things indifferent,
Each to be chose as either brings content;
My motive from a Nobler cause does spring,
Love rules my heart, and is your Monarchs King;
I more desire to know Almeria's mind,
Then all that Heaven has for my state design'd.
High Pr. By powerful Charms which nothing can withstand,
I'le force the Gods to tell what you demand.

Charm,
Thou Moon, that aid'st us with thy Magick might,
And yea small Starrs, the scattered seeds of light,
Dart your pale beams into this gloomy place,
That the sad powers of the Infernal race
May read above what's hid from Humane Eyes,
And in your walks, see Empires fall and rise.

And ye Immortal Souls, that once were Men, And now resolved to Elements agen, That wait for Mortal frames in depths below, And did before what we are doom'd to do; Once, twice, and thrice, I wave my Sacred wand, Ascend, ascend, ascend at my command.

An Earthy Spirit rifes.

Spir. In vain, O mortal men your Prayers implore The aid of powers below, that want it more : A God more strong, who all the gods commands, Drives us to exile from our Native Lands; The Air swarms thick with wandring Deities, Which drowfily like humming Beetles rife From our lov'd Earth, where peacefully we flept, And far from Heaven a long poslession kept. The frighted Satyrs that in Woods delight, Now into Plains with prick'd up Ears take flight 3 And scudding thence, while they their horn-feet ply About their Syres the little Silvans cry. A Nation loving Gold must rule this place, Our Temples Ruine, and our Rices Deface: To them, O King, is thy loft Scepter given, Now mourn thy fatal fearch, for fince wife Heaven More ill then good to Mortals does difpence, Descends. It is not fafe to have too quick a fenfe.

Mont. Mourn they who think repining can remove
The firm decrees of those that rule above;
The brave are safe within, who still dare dye,
When e're I fall I'le scorn my destiny.
Doom as they please my Empire not to stand,
I'le grasp my Scepter with my dying hand.

High Pr. Those Earthy Spirits black and envious are, I'le call up other gods of form more fair: Who Visions dress in pleasing Colours still, Set all the good to show, and hide the ill.

Kalib ascend, my fair-spoke servant rise, And sooth my Heart with pleasing Prophecies.

Kalib afcends all in White in the flore of a Woman and Sings.

Kalib. I look'd and faw within the Book of Fate,

Where many days did lower, When lo one happy hour

Leapt up, and fmil'd to fave thy finking State;

A day shall come when in thy power Thy cruel Foes shall be; Then shall thy Land be free, And thou in Peace shall Raign:

But take, O take that opportunity,

Which once refus'd will never come again.

Mont. I shall deserve my Fate if I refuse That happy hour which Heaven allots to use; But of my Crown thou too much care do'st take,

That which I value more, my Lov's at stake.

High Pr. Arise ye subtle Spirits that can spy,
When Love is enter'd in a Females eye;
You that can read it in the midst of doubt,
And in the midst of frowns can find it out;
You that can search those many corner'd minds,
Where Womans crooked fancie, turns, and winds;
You that can Love explore, and truth impart,
Where both lye deepest hid in Womans heart,

Arise. The Ghosts of Traxalla and Acacis arise, they stand still and point at Montez.

High Pr. I did not for these Ghastly Visions send, Their sudden coming does some ill portend: Begon,—begon,—they will not disappear, My Soul is seiz'd with an unusual fear.

Mont. Point on, point on, and see whom you can fright,
Shame and Consussion seize these shades of night;
Ye thin and empty forms am I your sport?
They smile.
If you were flesh—

You know you durst not use me in this fort.

The Ghoft of the Indian Queen rifes betwixt the Ghofts with a Dagger into her Breaft.

Mont. Ha!

I feel

Descends.

(17)

I feel my Hair grow stiff, my Eye-balls rowl. This is the only form could shake my Soul. Ghoft. The hopes of thy fuccessels Love religo, Know Montezuma, thou art only mine; For those that here on Earth their passion show, By death for Love, receive their right below. Why doeft thou then delay my longing Arms? Have Cares, and Age, and Mortal life fuch Charms! The Moon grows fickly at the fight of day, And early Cocks have fummon'd me away: Yet I'le appoint a meeting place below, For there fierce winds o're dusky Vallies blow, Whose every puff bears empty shades away, Which guidless in those dark Dominions stray. Just at the entrance of the Fields below, Thou shalt behold a tall black Poplar grow, Safe in its hollow trunk I will attend, Descende. And feize thy Spirit when thou doest descend. Mont. I'le seize thee there, thou Messenger of Fate, Would my short Life had yet a shorter date! I'm weary of this flesh which holds us here, And dastards manly Souls with hope and fear; These heats and colds still in our breasts make War, Agues and Feavers all our passions are. Excunt.

SCENE II.

Cydaria, Alibech, Betwixt the two Armies.

Alib. Bleffings will Crown your Name if you prevent
That Blood, which in this Battel will be spent;
Nor need you fear so just a fute to move,
Which both becomes your duty and your Love.
Cyd. But think you he will come of their Camp is near,
And he already knows I wait him here.
Alib. You are too young your power to understand,
Lovers take wing upon the least command;
Already he is here.

Enter Cort. and Vasq. to them.

Cort:

Cort. Methinks like two black forms on either hand, Our Spanish Army and your Indians Stand; This only space betwixt the Clouds is clear, Where you, like day, broke loofe from both appear.

Cyd. Those closing Skies might still continue bright, But who can help it if you'l make it night? The Gods have given you power of Life and Death,

Like them to fave or featter with a breath.

Cort. That power they to your Father did dispose, Twas in his choice to make us Friends or Foes.

Alib. Injurious strength would rapine still excuse, By off'ring terms the weaker must refuse; And fuch as these your hard conditions are, You threaten Peace, and you invite a War.

Cort. If for my felf to Conquer here I came, You might perhaps my actions justly blame. Now I am fent, and am not to dispute

My Princes orders, but to execute.

Alib. He who his Prince so blindly does obey, To keep his Faith his Vertue throws away.

Cort. Monarchs may err, but should each private breast

Judge their ill Acts, they would dispute their best. Cyd. Then all your care is for your Prince I fee, Your truth to him out-weighs your love to me ; You may so cruel to deny me prove,

But never after that, pretend to Love. Cort. Command my Life, and I will foon obey,

To fave my Honour I my Blood will pay.

Cyd. What is this Honour that does Love controul?

Cort. A raging fit of Vertue in the Soul ; A painful burden which great minds must bear, Obtain'd with danger, and possess with fear.

Cyd. Lay down that burden if it painful grow,

You'l find, without it, Love will lighter go. Cort. Honour once lost is never to be found.

Alib. Perhaps he looks to have both passions Crown'd: First dye his Honour in a Purple Flood, Then Court the Daughter in the Father's Blood.

And spare her Father's Subjects for her sake.

Cyd. I cannot Love you less when I'm refus'd, But I can dye to be unkindly us'd; Where shall a Maids distracted heart find rest, If she can miss it in her Lovers breast!

Cort. I till to morrow will the fight delay, Remember you have conquer'd me to day.

Alib. This grant destroys all you have urg'd before, Honour could not give this, or can give more; Our Women in the foremost ranks appear, March to the Fight, and meet your Mistress there, Into the thickest Squadrons she must run, Kill her, and see what Honour will be won.

Cyd. I must be in the Battel, but I'le go
With empty Quiver, and unbended Bow;
Not draw an Arrow in this satal strife,
For fear its point should reach your Noble life.

Cort. No more, your kindness wounds me to the death, Honour be gone, what art thou but a breath! I'le live, proud of my infamy and shame, Grac'd with no Triumph but a Lovers name; Men can but say Love did his reason blind, And Love's the noblest frailty of the mind, Draw off my Men, the War's already done.

Piz. Your orders come too late, the Fight's begun, The Enemy gives on with fury led,

And fierce Orbellan combats in their head.

Cort. He justly fears a Peace with me would prove
Of ill concernment to his haughty Love;
Retire, fair Excellence, I'le go to meet
New Honour, but to lay it at your feet.

Exeunt Cort. Vafq. Piz.

Enter Odm. and Guy. to Alib. and Cyd.

odm. Now, Madam, fince a danger does appear Worthy my Courage, though below my Fear,

Give

Give leave to him who may in Battel dye, Before his Death to ask his destiny.

Guy. He cannot Dye whom you command to Live, Before the Fight you can the Conquest give;

Speak where you'l place it?

One I in secret Love, the other Loath;
But where I hate, my hate I will not show,
And he I Love, my Love shall never know;
True worth shall gain me, that it may be sed,
Desert, not sancy, once a Woman led.
He that in sight his courage shall oppose
With most success against his Countries Foes,
From me shall all that recompence receive that Valour Merits, or that Love can give:
'Tis true my hopes and fears are all for one,
But hopes and fears are to my self alone,
Let him not shun the danger of the strife,
I but his Love, his Country claims his Life.

odm. All obstacles my Courage shall remove.

Guy. Fall on, fall on.

odm. -----For Liberty,

Guy. - For Love. Exeunt the Women following.

SCENE Changes to the Indian Country.

Enter Mont. attended by bis Indians.

Mont. Charge, charge, their ground the faint Taxallans yield, Bold in close Ambush, base in open Field: The envious Devil did my Fortune wrong, Thus Fought, thus Conquer'd I when I was young. Exit.

Cort. Furies pursue these false Taxallans Flight,
Dare they be Friends to us and dare not Fight?
What Friends can Cowards be, what hopes appear
Of help from such, that where they hate show tear!

Piz. The Field grows thin, and those that now remain, Appear but like the shadows of the Slain.

Vasq.

Vafq. The fierce old King it vanifo'd from the place,

And in a cloud of dust pursues the Chase.

Cort. Their eager Chase disorder'd does appear, Command our Horse to charge them in the rear; You to our old Castillian Foot retire,

To Vafq.

To Piz.

Who yet stand firm, and at their backs give Fire.

Excunt severally.

Enter Odm. and Guy. meeting each other.

odm. Where hast thou been since first the Fight began,

Thou less then Woman in the shape of Man?

Guy. Where I have done what may thy Envy move,

Things worthy of my Birth, and of my Love :

odm. Two bold Taxallans with one Dart I flew,

And left it sticking ere my Sword I drew.

Cwy. I fought not Honour on so base a Train,
Such Cowards by our Women may be Slain;
I fell'd along a Man of Bearded face,
His Limbs all cover'd with a Shining case:
So wondrons hard, and so secure of wound,
It made my Sword, though edg'd with Flint, rebound.

odm. I kill'd a double Man, the one half lay

Upon the ground, the other ran away. Guns go off within.

Enter Mont. out of breath, with him Alib. and an Indian.

Our Foes with Lightning and with Thunder Fight,
My Men in vain thun death by thameful Flight;
For death's Invitible come wing'd with Fire,
They hear a dreadful noise and straight expire.
Take, gods, that Soul ye did in spight create,
And made it great to be unfortunate:
Ill Fate for me unjustly you provide,
Great Souls are Sparks of your own Heavenly Pride,
That lust of power we from your god-heads have,
You'r bound to please those Appetites you gave.

Enter Vasq. and Piz. with Spaniards.

Vafq. Pizarro, I have hunted hard to day,

Seize on the King, and him your Prisoner make, While I in kind revenge, my taker take.

Piz. with two goes to Attaque the King, Vafq. with another to scize Alib.

Guy. Their danger is alike, whom shall I free ?

Odm. I'le follow Love.

Guy. ____ I'le follow Piety.

Odm. retreats from Vasq. with Alib off the Stage, Guy. Fights for his Father.

Guy. Fly Sir, while I give back that life you gave,

Mine is well loft, if I your life can fave.

Mont. Fights off, Guy, making his retreat, stays.

Ony. 'Tis more than Man can do to scape them all, Stay, let me see where noblest I may fall.'

He runs at Valq. is feized behind and taken.

Vasq. Conduct him off,

And give command he strictly guarded be.

Guy. In vain are guards, Death fets the Valiant free.

Exit Guy with Guards:

Vasq. A Glorious day! and bravely was it Fought, Great fame our General in great dangers sought; From his strong Arm I saw his Rival run, And in a crowd, th' unequal Combat shun.

Enter Cortez leading Cidaria, who feems crying,

Cort. Mans force is fruitless, and your gods would fail
To save the City, but your Tears prevail;
I'le of my Fortune no advantage make,

Those Terms they had once given, they still may take.

Cyd. Heaven has of right all Victory design'd, Where boundless power dwells in a will confin'd; Your Spanish Honour does the World excel.

Cort. Our greatest Honour is in loving well.

Cyd. Strange ways you practice there to win a Heart,

Here Love is Nature, but with you 'tis Art.
Cort, Love is with us, as Natural as here,

But fetter'd up with customs more severe ;

In tedious Courtship we declase our phis, ad an addition.

And ere we kindness find, first meet disclain.

Cyd. If Women Love they needless pains endure,

Their Pride and Folly but delay their Cure.

They know how fickle common Lovers are:
Their Oaths and Vows are cautioufly believ'd,
For few there are but have been once deceived.

Cyd. But if they are not trusted when they vow, What other marks of passion can they show?

Cort. With Fealts, and Musick, all that brings delight,

Men treat their Ears, their Pallats, and their Sight.

Cyd. Your Gallants fure have little Eloquence,
Failing to move the Soul, they Court the Sence,
With Pomps, and Trains, and in a crowd they Woe,
When true Felicity is but in two;
But can such Toys your Womens passion move?

This is but noise and tumult, 'tis not Love.

Cort. I have no reason, Madam, to excuse
Those ways of Gallantry I did not use;
My Love was true and on a Nobler score.

Cyd. Your Love! Alas! then have you Lov'd before!

And I should think with her all Beauty Fled; Did not her fair resemblance live in you, And by that Image, my first Flames renew.

Cyd. Ah happy Beauty whosoe're thou art!
Though dead thou keep'st possession of his Heart;
Thou mak'st me jealous to the last degree,
And art my Rival in his Memory;
Within his Memory, ah, more then so,
Thou Liv'st and Triumph'st ore Cydaria too.
Cort. What strange disquiet has uncalm'd your breast,

Inhumane fair, to rob the dead of rest!

Poor Heart!
She slumbers deep, deep in her silent Tomb,
Let her possess in Peace that narrow Room.

Gyd. Poor-heart he pities and bewails her death, Some god, much hated foul, restore thy breath That I may kill thee, but some ease 'twill be, I'le kill my self for but resembling thee.

Cort. I dread your anger, your disquiet sear,
But blows from hands so soft who would not bear?
So kind a passion why should I remove?
Since jealousie but shows how well we Love.
Yet jealousie so strange I never knew,
Can she who Loves not me disquiet you?
For in the Grave no Passions fill the Breast,
'Tis all we gain by Death to be at rest.

Cyd. That she no longer Loves brings no relief, Your Love to her still lives, and that's my grief.

Cort. The object of desire once tane away, 'Tis then not Love, but pitty that we pay.

Cyd. 'Tis such a pitty I should never have, When I must lye forgotten in the Grave; I meant to have oblig'd you when I dy'd, That after me you should Love none beside, But you are false already.

Cort. --- If untrue,

By Heaven my falshood is to her, not you.

Cyd. Observe sweet Heaven, how fallly he does Swear,

You said you Lov'd me for resembling her.

Cort. That Love was in me by resemblance bred, But shows you chear'd my forrows for the Dead.

Cyd. You still repeat the greatness of your grief. Cort. If that was great, how great was the relief?
Cyd. The first Love still the strongest we account.

Cort. That feems more strong which could the first surmount :

But if you still continue thus unkind,

Whom I Love best, you by my Death shall find.

Cyd. If you should dye my death should yours pursue,

But yet I am not satisfied you'r true. .

Cort. Hear me, ye gods, and punish him you hear,

If ought within the World, I hold so dear.

And is not in the World, whose Love I dread,

Name

Name not the world, fay nothing is so dear.

Cort. Then nothing is, let that secure your fear.

cyd. 'Tis Time must wear it off, but I must go.

Can you your constancy in absence show?

Cort. Mif-doubt my constancy and do not try,

But stay and keep me ever in your eye.

Cyd. If as a Prisoner I were here, you might Have then infifted on a Conqu'rours right, And stay'd me here; but now my Love would be Th'effect of force, and I would give it free.

Cort. To doubt your Vertue or your Love were fin;

Call for the Captive Prince and bring him in.

Enter Guyomar bound and sad.

You look, Sir, as your Fate you could not bear, [To Guyomar, Are Spanish Fetters then so hard to wear?

Fortune's unjust, she ruines oft the Brave, And him who should be Victor, makes the Slave.

Guy. Son of the Sun, my Fetters cannot be But Glorious for me, fince put on by thee; The ills of Love, not those of Fate I fear, These I can brave, but those I cannot bear; My Rival Brother, while I'm held in Chains, In freedom reaps the fruit of all my Pains.

Cort. Let it be never said, that he whose breast Is fill'd with Love, should break a Lovers rest; Haste, lose no time, your Sister sets you Free, And tell the King, my Generous Enemy, I offer still those terms he had before,

Only ask leave his Daughter to adore.

Guy. Brother, that Name my breast shall ever own, She embraThe Name of Foe be but in Battels known; Sees him.

For some few days all Hostile Acts forbear,
That if the King consents, it seem not fear;
His Heart is Noble, and great Souls must be
Most sought and Courted in Adversity.
Three days I hope the witht success will tell.

Cyd. Till that long time.

Cort. - Till that long time, farewel.

Excust feverally.

Ю

A.C T III.

SCENE, Chamber Royal.

Enter Odmar and Alibech.

Odm. THE gods fair Alibech had so decreed,
Nor could my Valour against fate succeed;
Yet though our Army brought not Conquest home,
I did not from the Fight inglorious come:
If as a Victor you the brave regard,
Successes Courage then may hope reward,
And I returning safe, may justly boast
To win the prize which my dead Brother lost.

Senter Guyomar behind him.

Gny. No, no, thy Brother lives, and lives to be A Witness, both against himself and thee; Though both in safety are return'd agen, I blush to ask her Love for vanquisht Men.

odm. Brother, I'le not dispute, but you are brave,

Yet I was free, and you it feems a Slave.

As publickly is known, as that I was Captive led. As publickly is known, as that you fled; But of two shames if she must one partake, I think the choice will not be hard to make. Freedom and Bondage in her choice remains, Dar'st thou expect she will put on thy Chains?

Guy. No, no, fair Alibech, give him the Crown, My Brother is return'd with high Renown. He thinks by Flight his Mistrels must be won, And claims the prize because he best did run.

Alib. Your Chains were glorious, and your Flight was wife, But neither have o'recome your Enemies: My secret wishes would my choice decide, But open Justice bends to neither side.

Odm. Justice already does my right approve,
Ishim who Loves you most, you most should Love.

My Brother poorly from your aid withdrew,

But I my Father left to fuccour you.

Guy. Her Country she did to her self preser, Him who Fought best, not who Desended her; Since she her interest for the Nations wav'd, Then I who sav'd the King, the Nation sav'd; You aiding her, your Country did betray, I aiding him, did her commands obey.

Odm. Name it no more, in Love, there is a time When dull Obedience is the greatest Crime; She to her Countries use resign'd your Sword, And you kind Lover, took her at her word; You did your Duty to your Love preser, Seek your reward from Duty, not from her.

Gny. In acting what my Duty did require,
"Twas hard for me to quit my own defire,
That Fought for her, which when I did subdue,

Twas much the easier task I left for you.

Alib. Odmar a more then common Love has flown.

And Guyomar's was greater, or was none;

Which I should chuse some god direct my breast,

The certain good, or the uncertain best:
I cannot chuse, you both dispute in vain,

Time and your future Acts must make it plain;

First raise the Siege, and set your Country free,
I not the Judge, but the reward will be.

Enter Montezuma talking with Almeria and Orbellan.

Mont. Madam, I think with reason I extol The Vertue of the spanish General; When all the gods our Ruine have fore-told, Yet generously he does his Arms with-hold, And offering Peace, the first conditions make.

Alm. When Peace is offer'd 'tis too late to take;
For one poor loss to stoop to terms like those,
Were we o'recome what could they worse impose?
Go, go, with homage your proud Victors meet,
Go lie like Dogs, beneath your Masters Feet.

E 2

Go and beget them Slaves to dig their Mines, And groun for Gold which now in Temples shines; Your shameful story shall record of me, The Men all crouch'd, and left a Woman free. Gny. Had I not Fought, or durst not Fight again, I my suspected Counsel should refrain: For I wish Peace, and any terms prefer Before the last extremities of War. We but exasperate those we cannot harm, And Fighting gains us but to dye more warm: If that be Cowardife, which dares not fee The infolent effects of Victory; The rape of Matrons, and their Childrens cries, Then I am fearful, let the Brave advise. Odm. Keen cutting Swords, and Engines killing far, Have prosperously begun a doubtful War; But now our Foes with less advantage Fight, Their strength decreases with our Indians Fright. Mont. This Noble Vote does with my wish comply, I am for War. Alm, ---- And fo am I. And I. Mont. Then fend to break the truce, and I'le take care To chear the Souldiers, and for Fight prepare. Exeunt Mont. Odm. Guy. Alib. Aim. 'Tis now the hour which all to rest allow, And Sleep fits heavy upon every brow; In this dark filence foftly leave the Town, Guyomar return: And to the Generals Tent, 'tis quickly known, Sand hears them. Direct your steps: you may dispatch him strait, Drown'd in his Sleep, and easie for his Fate: Besides the truce will make the Guards more slack. Orb. Courage which leads me on, will bring me back ? But I more fear the baseness of the thing, Remorfe, you know, bears a perpetual sting. Alm. For mean remorfe no room the Valiant finds, Repentance is the Vertue of weak minds ; For want of judgement, keeps them doubtful still,

They may repent of good who can of ill;

But

(29)

But daring Courage makes ill actions good, Tis foolish pity spares a Rivals Blood; You shall about it streight.

Excunt Alm. Orb.

His fleeping Vertue, by so mean a way!

And yet this Spaniard is our Nations Foe,
I wish him dead — but cannot wish it so;
Either my Country never must be freed,
Or I consenting to so black a deed.

Would Chance had never led my steps this way,
Now if he dyes I Murther him, not they;
Something must be resolved e're 'tis too late,
He gave me freedom, I'le prevent his Fate.

Exit Guyomar.

SCENE II. A Camp.

Enter Cortez alone in a Night-gown.

The Mountains feem to nod their drowfie head;
The Mountains feem to nod their drowfie head;
The little Birds in dreams their Songs repeat,
And fleeping Flowers, beneath the night-dew fweat;
Ev'n Lust and Frowy fleep, yet Love denies Rest to my Soul, and thumber to my Eyes.
Three days I promis d to attend my Doom,
And two long days and nights are yet to come:
Tis fure the noyse of some Tumultuous Fight,
Noyse within.

Enter Orbellan flying in the dark, his Sword drawn.

Orb. Betray'd! pursu'd! Oh whither shall I flye?

See, see, the just reward of Treachery;

I'm sure among the Tents, but know not where,

Even night wants darkness to secure my fear.

Comes near Cortez who bearshim.

Afide. To bim.

Cort. Souldier thou feem'ft afraid, whence comesthy flight?

orb. The insolence of Spaniards caus'd my fear,

Who in the dark purfu'd me entring here.

Cort. Their Crimes shall meet immediate punishment,

But fray thou fafe within the Generals Tent.

Orb. Still worfe and worfe.

Upon my Life I'le let thee safe and free,

Cortez Leads him in, and returns.

To him Vasquez, Pizarro and Spaniards with Torobes.

Vasq. O Sir, thank Heaven, and your brave Indian Friend That you are safe, Orbellan did intend This night to kill you skeeping in your Tent, But Guyomar, his trusty Slave has sent,

Who following close his silent steps by night
Till in our Camp they both approach'd the light,
Cryed seize the Traytor, seize the Murtherer,

The cruel Villain fled I know not where, But far he is not, for he this way bent.

Piz. Th' inraged Souldiers feek, from Tent to Tent,

With lighted Torches, and in Love to you, With bloody Vows his hated life pursue.

Vasq. This Messenger does fince he came relate,
That the old King, after a long debate;
Participation of the control of the co

By his imperious Mistress blindly led, Has given Cydaria to Orbellan's Bed.

Cort. Vasquez, the trusty Slave with you retain, Retire a while, I'le call you back again. Exeunt Vasquez, Pizarro.

Cortez at his Tent Door.

Cort. Indian come forth, your Enemies are gone, And I who sav'd you from them, here alone, You hide your Face, as you were still afraid, Dare you not look on him that gave you aid?

Orb. Moon slip behind some Cloud, some Tempest rise And blow out all the Stars that light the Skies, To shrowd my shame. And hide your Face, your Name you cannot hide 3 I know my Rival and his black design.

Orb. Forgive it as my passions fault, not mine.
Cort. In your excuse your Love does little say,

You might how e're have took a fairer way.

Orb. 'Tis true my passion small defence can make,'
Yet you must spare me for your Honours sake;

That was engag'd to fet me safe and free.

Cort. 'Twas to a Stranger, not an Enemy:
Nor is it prudence to prolong thy breath,
When all my hopes depend upon thy death---Yet none shall tax me with base perjury,
Something I'le do, both for my self and thee;
With vow'd revenge my Souldiers search each Tent,
If thou art seen none can thy death prevent;
Follow my steps with silence and with haste.

They go out, the Soene changes to the Indian

Countrey, they return.

Cort. Now you are safe, you have my out-guards past.

Orb. Then here I take my leave.

When you return you to Cydaria go,

l'le fend a Message.

orb. -- Let it be exprest,

I am in hafte.

Cort. --- I'le write it in your Breaft .--- Drams.

Orb. What means my Rival?

Cort. ———Either Fight or Dye,
I'le not strain Honour to a point too high;
I sav'd your Life, now keep it if you can,
Cydaria shall be for the bravest Man;
On equal terms you shall your Fortune try,
Take this and lay your flint-edg'd weapon by; Gives him
I'le arm you for my Glory, and pursue
No Palm, but what's to manly Vertue due.
Fame with my Conquest, shall my Courage tell,
This you shall gain by placing Love so well.

orb. Fighting with you ungrateful I appear.

Cort. Under that shadow thou wouldst hide thy fear:

Thou wouldst possess thy Love at thy return,

And in her Arms my casic Vertue scorn.

Orb. Since we must Fight, no longer let's delay,

Orb. Since we must Fight, no longer let's delay, The Moon thines clear, and makes a paler day.

They Fight, Orbellan is wounded in the Hand, bis Sword falls out of it.

Cort. To Courage, even of Foes, there's pity due,
It was not I, but Fortune vanquish'd you;
Thank me with that, and so disgute the prize, Smord again.
As if you Fought before Cydarias eyes.

You gave me not this Sword to yield, but Fight;
But see where yours has fore'd its bloody way, SHestrives to hold
My wounded Hand my Heart does ill obey. Lit, but cannot.

Why have I vanquish'd, fince I must not Kill?

Fate sees thy Life lodg'd in a brittle Glass,
And looks it through, but to it cannot pass.

Orb. All I can do is frankly to confess, I wish I could, but cannot love her less; To swear I would resign her were but vain, Love would recal that perjur'd breath again; And in my wretched case twill be more just Not to have promis'd, then deceive your trust. Know, if I-Live once more to see the Town, In bright Cydaria's Arms my Love i'le crown.

Cort. In spight of that I give thee Liberty,
And with thy person leave thy Honour free;
But to thy wishes move a speedy pace,
Or Death will soon o'retake thee in the Chace.
To Arms, to Arms, Fate shows my Love the way,
I'le force the City on thy Nuptial day.

Exeunt severally.

SCENE III. Mexico.

Enter Montenuma, Odmar, Guyomar, Almeria.

Mont. It moves my wonder that in two days space,

This early Famine spreads so swift a pace.

Odm. Tis, Sir, the general cry, nor feems it strange,

The face of plenty should so swiftly change;

This City never felt a Siege before,

But from the Lake receiv'd its daily store,

Which now shut up, and Millions crowded here,

Famine will foon in multitudes appear.

Mont. The more the number still the greater shame.

Alm. What if some one should seek immortal Fame

By ending of the Siege at one brave blow?

Mont. That were too happy !

Alm. - yet it may be so,

What if the Spanish General should be slain?

Guy. Just Heaven I hope does other-ways ordain,

Mont. If flain by Treason I lament his death.

Enter Orbellan and whispers his Sister.

Odm. Orbellan feems in hast and out of breath.

Mont. Orbellan welcome, you are early hear,

A Bridegrooms hast does in your looks appear.

Almeria Afide to her Brother.

Alm. Betray'd! no, 'twas thy Cowardife, and Fear,

He had not 'scap'd with Life had I been there;

But fince so ill you act a brave de fign,

Keep close your shame, Fate make the next turn mine.

Enter Alibech, Cydaria.

Alib. O Sir, if ever pity touch'd your breast,

Let it be now to your own blood exprest:

In teares your beauteous Daughter drowns her fight,

Silent as dews that fall in dead of night.

Cyd. To your commands I strict obedience owe,

And my last Act of it I come to show ;

I want the Heart to dye before your Eyes,

But Grief will finish that which Fear denies.

Alm.

Afide.

Alm. Your will should by your Fathers precept move.

Cyd. When he was young he taught me truth in Love.

Alm. He found more Love then he deferv'd, 'tis true,

And that it feems, is lucky too to you;

Your Fathers Folly took a head-strong course, But I'le rule yours, and teach you Love by force.

Enter Messenger.

Arm, Arm, O King, the Enemy comes on,

A tharp affault already is begun;

Their Murdering Guns play fiercely on the Walls.

odm. Now Rival, let us run where Honour calls,

Guy. I have discharg'd what gratitude did owe,

And the brave Spaniard is again my Foe. [Exeunt Odmar and Mont. Our walls are high, and multitudes defend Guyomar.

Their vain attempt must in their ruine end; The Nuptials with my presence shall be grac'd.

Alib. At least but stay 'till the assault be past.
Alm. Sister, in vain you urge him to delay,

The King has promis'd, and he shall obey. Enter Second Messenger.

From several parts the Enemy's repel'd,
One only quarter, to th' affault does yield.

Enter Third Messenger.

Some Foes are enter'd, but they are so few

They only Death, not Victory pursue.

orb. Hark, hark they shout !

From Vertues rules I do, too meanly swerve:

Bby my Courage will your Love deserve.

Mont. Here in the heart of all the Town I'le fray :

And timely fuccour where it wants, convey.

A Noise within. Enter Orbell. Indians driven in, Cortez after them, and one or two Spaniards.

Cort. He's found, he's found, degenerate Coward, stay :

Night fav'd thee once thou shalt not scape by day. [Kills Orbellan. orb. —O I am Kill'd — Dyes.

Enter Guyomar and Odmar.

Guy. Yield Generous Stranger and pref-Why chuse you death in this unequa!

SHe is befet.

Almeria and Alibech falls on Orbellans body

Cort. What nobler Fate could any Lover meet,

I fall reveng'd, and at my Mistress feet?

They fall on him and bear him down, Guyomar

Alib. He's past recovery; my Dear Brother Slain:

Fates head was in it, and my care is vain.

Alm. In weak complaints you vainly wast your breath:

They are not Tears that can revenge his Death,

Dispatch the Villain strait.

Cort. - The Villains Dead :

Alm. Give me a Sword and let me take his Head.

Mont. Though, Madam, for your Brothers los I grieve,

Yet let me beg,-

Alm. --- His Murderer may Live?

Cyd. 'Twas his Misfortune, and the Chance of War.

Cort. It was my purpose, and I kill'd him fair ;

How could you so unjust and cruel prove

To call that Chance that was the act of Love?

Cyd. I call'd it any thing to fave your Life: Would he were living still, and I his Wife;

That wish was once, my greatest misery :

But 'tis a greater to behold you dye.

Alm. Either command his Death upon the place,

Or never more behold Almeria's face.

Guy. You by his Valour, once from Death were freed:

Can you forget fo Generous a deed? [To Montezuma.

Mont. How Gratitude and Love divide my breast!

Both ways alike my Soul is rob'd of rest.

But—let him Dye, — can I his Sentence give ?

Ungrateful must be Dye by whom I Live?

But can I then Almeria's Tears deny !.

Should any Live whom the commands to Dye?

Guy. Approach who dares: he yielded on my word;
And as my Pris ner, I restore his Sword;

[Gives his Sword.]

And as my Pris ner, I restore his Sword; His Life concerns the safety of the State,

And I'le preserve it for a calm debate.

Mont.

Mont. Dar'st thou Rebel false and degenerate Boy, That being which I gave, I thus destroy.

Offers to kill him, Odmar fleps between.

odm. My Brothers blood I cannot see you spill, Since he prevents you but from doing ill: He is my Rival, but his Death would be For him too glorious, and too base for me.

Gny. Thou shalt not Conquer in this noble strife:
Alas, I meant not to defend my Life:
Strike, Sir, you never piere'd a Breast more true:
Tis the last Wound I e're can take for you.
You see I Live but to dispute your will;

Kill me, and then you may my Pris ner Kill.

Cort. You shall not, Gen'rous Youths, contend for me:

It is enough that I your Honour fee, But that your Duty may no blemish take, I will my self your Father's Captive make: When he dares strike I am prepar'd to fall: The Spaniards will revenge their General.

S Gives bis Sword to Montezuma.

Cyd. Ah you too hastily your Life resign,
You more would Love it is you valued mine!
Cort. Dispatch me quickly, I my Death forgive,
I shall grow tender else, and wish to Live;
Such an infectious Face her forrow wears,
I can bear Death, but not Cydaria's Tears.

Alm. Make haste, make haste, they merit Death all three :

They for Rebellion, and for Murder he. See, fee, my Brother's Ghost hangs hovering there, O're his warm Blood, that steems into the Air, Revenge, Revenge it cries.

Mont. ——And it shall have;
But two days respite for his Life I crave:
If in that space you not more gentle prove;
I'le give a Fatal proof how well I Love.
'Lill when you Gnyomar, your Pris'ner take;
the shat small time, I shall the Conquest gain
Of these few Sparks of Vertue that remains:

[Exeunt omnes,

ACT IV.

SCENE, A Prifon.

Enter Almeria and an Indian they Speak entring. Ind. A Dangerous proof of my respect I show. Alm. Fear not, Prince Guyomar shall never know : While he is absent let us not delay 5 Remember 'tis the King thou doest obey. Ind. See where he fleeps. [Cortez appears Chain'd and laid afleep. Alm. - Without my coming wait : And on thy Life secure the Prison Gate .---[She plucks out a Dagger and approaches him. Spaniard awake: thy Fatal hour is come: Thou shalt not at such ease receive thy Doom. Revenge is fure, though sometimes slowly pac'd, Awake, awake, or fleeping fleep thy laft. Cort. Who names Revenge? Alm. - Look up and thou shalt see. Cort. I cannot fear fo fair an Enemy. Alm. No aid is near, nor canst thou make defence: Whence can thy Courage come? Cort. --- From Innocence-Alm. From Innocence? let that then take thy part, Still are thy looks affur'd, ---- have at thy Heart : [Hald up the Dinger. I cannot kill thee; fure thou bear'ft fome Charm, [Coes base Or fome Divinity holds back my Arm. Why do I thus delay to make him Bleed, Can I want Courage for fo brave a Deed ? I've shook it off; my Soul is free from fear, Coures again. And I can now strike any where; ---- but here : Hins His scorn of Death how strangely does it move!

A mind so haughty who could chuse but Love!

Plead not a Charm, or any gods command,

Alas, it is thy heart that holds thy hand:

In spight of me I Love, and see too late

My Mothers Pride must find my Mothers Fate:

----- Thy Country's Foe, thy Brother's Murtherer,

For shame, Almeria, such mad thoughts forbear:

I w'onnot be if I once more come on, [coming on again.]

Ishall mistake the Breast, and pierce my own.

Comes with ber Dagger down.

To give me Death, till 'tis prepar'd by fear & If you delay for that, forbear or strike, Fore-seen and sudden death are both alike.

Alm. To show my Love would but increase his Pride:

They have most power who most their passions hide.

Spaniard, I must confess I did expect
You could not meet your Death with such neglect;
I will defer it now, and give you time:
You may Repent, and I forget your Crime.

Cort. Those who repent acknowledge they did ill:

I did not unprovok'd your Brother Kill.

Alm. Petition me, perhaps I may forgive.

Cort. Who begs his Life does not deferve to Live.

Alm. But if 'tis given you'l not refuse to take? Cort. I can Live gladly for Cydaria's sake.

Alm. Does the fo wholy then possess your mind?

What if you should another Lady find, Equal to her in birth, and far above In all that can attract, or keep your Love, Would you so doat upon your first desire

As not to entertain a Nobler Fire?

Cort. I think that person hardly will be found,
With Gracious form and equal Vertue Crown'd:

Yet if another could precedence claim, My fixt defires could find no fairer Aim. Alm. Dull ignorance, he cannot yet conceive:
To speak more plain shame will not give me leave.
-----Suppose one lov'd you whom even Kings adore:
Who with your Life, your Freedom would restore,
And adde to that the Crown of Mexico:

Would you for her, Cydaria's Love fore-go?

Cort. Though the could offer all you can invent,

I could not of my Faith, once vow'd repent.

Alm. A burning blush has cover'd all my face :
Why am I fore'd to publish my disgrace?
What if I Love, you know it cannot be,
And yet I blush to put the case 'twere me.

If I could Love you, with a flame fo true
I could forget what hand my Brother flew?----

- Make out the rest, -I am disorder'd so

I know not farther what to fay or do:

---- But answer me to what you think I meant.

Cort. Reason or Wit no answer can invent:

Of words confus'd who can the meaning find?

Alm. Difordered words show a distemper'd mind.

Cort. She has oblig'd me so, that could I chuse,

I would not answer what I must refuse. [Aside.

Alm.—His mind is shook 3— suppose I lov'd you, speak,

Would you for me Cydaria's Fetters break ?

Cort. Things meant in Jest, no serious answer need.

Alm. But put the case that it were so indeed.

Cort. If it were so, which but to think were Pride, My constant Love would dangerously be try'd:

For fince you could a Brothers death forgive,

He whom you fave for you alone should live: But I the most unhappy of mankind,

E're I knew yours, have all my Love relign'd:

Tis my own loss I grieve, who have no more;

You go a begging to a Bankrupts door.

Yet could I change, as fure I never can,

How could you Love so Infamous a Man?

For Love once given from her, and plac'd in you, Would leave no ground I ever could be true. [Aside.

Alm. You conftrued me aright, --- I was in Jest:
And by that offer meant to found your breast;
Which since I find so constant to your Love,
Will much my value of your worth improve.

Spaniard assure your self you shall not be Oblig'd to quit Cydaria for me:
'Tis dangerous though, to treat me in this sort,
And to refuse my offers, though in sport.

Exit Almeria.

And to refuse my offers, though in sport.

Cort. In what a strange Condition am I left,
More then I wish I have, of all I wish berest!
In wishing nothing we enjoy still most;
For even our wish is, in possession lost:
Restless we wander to a new desire,
And burn our selves by blowing of the Fire:
We tost and turn about our Feaverish will,
When all our ease must come by lying still:
For all the happiness Mankind can gain
Is not in pleasure, but in rest from pain.

Goes in and the Scene closes upon him.

Cort, folus.

SCENE II. Chamber Royal.

"Enter Montezuma, Odmar, Guyomar, Alibech.

Alont. My Ears are deaf with this impatient crowd:
Odm. Their wants are now grown Mutinous and loud:
The General's taken, but the Siege remains;
And their last Food our dying Men sustains.
Gny. One means is only lest, I to this hour,
Have kept the Captive from Almeria's power:
And though by your command she often sent
To urge his doom, do still his death prevent.
Mont. That hope is past: him I have oft assayl'd,
But neither threats nor kindness have prevail'd;
Hiding our wants, I offerd to release
His Chains, and equally conclude a Peace:
He fiercely answer'd I had now no way
But to submit, and without terms obey:

(41)

I told him, he in Chains demanded more
Then he impos'd in Victory before:
He fullenly reply'd, he could not make
These offers now: Honour must give, not take.

Odm. Twice have I fallyed, and was twice beat back ?

What desprate course remains for us to take !

Mont. If either Death or Bondage I must chuse,

I'll keep my Freedom, though my life I lofe.

Gwy. I'll not upbraid you that you once refus'd Those means, you might have then with Honour us'd:

I'll lead your Men, perhaps bring Victory:

They know to Conquer best, who know to Dye.

[Exeunt Montezuma, Odmar.

Alib. Ahme, what have I heard! ftay Guyomar, What hope you from this Sally you prepare?

Guy. A death, with Honour for my Countries good :

A death, to which your felf defign'd my blood.

Alib. You heard, and I well know the Towns diffres, Which Sword and Famine both at once oppress:

Famine so fierce, that what's deny'd Mans use Even deadly Plants, and Herbs of pois nous juice Wild hunger seeks; and to prolong our breath,

We greedily devour our certain death:

The Souldier in th' assault of Famine falls;

And Ghofts not Men are watching on the walls.

As Callow Birds

Whose Mother's kill'd in seeking of their prey, Cry in their Nost, and think her long away; And at each leaf that stirs, each blast of wind, Gape for the Food which they must never find: So cry the people in their misery.

Guy. And what relief can they expect from me?

Alib. While Montesuma fleeps, call in the Foe: The Captive General your design may know: His Noble heart, to Honour ever true, Knows how to spare as well as to subdue.

Guy. What I have heard I blush to hear: and grieve Those words you spoke I must your words believe;

G

I to do this! I, whom you once thought brave, To fell my Countrey, and my King Enflave? All I have done by one foul act deface, And yield my right to you by turning base? What more could odmar with that I should do To lofe your Love, then you perswade me to? No, Madam, no, I never can commit A deed so ill, nor can you suffer it : Tis but to try what Vertue you can find Lodg'd in my Soul.

Alib. I plainly speak my Mind 3 Dear as my Life my Vertue I'll preserve: But Vertue you too scrupulously serve: I lov'd not more then now my Countries good, When for it's fervice I employ'd your Blood: But things are alter'd, I am still the same, By different ways still moving to one fame ; And by dif-arming you, I now do more To fave the Town, then arming you before.

Guy. Things good or ill by circumstances be,

In you'tis Vertue, what is Vice in me.

Alib. That ill is pardon'd which does good procure.

Guy. The good's uncertain, but the ill is fure. Alib. When Kings grow stubborn, slothful, or unwife, Each private man for publick good should rife;

As when the Head distempers does endure, Each several part must join t'effect the cure.

Guy. Take heed, Fair Maid, how Monarchs you accuse: Such reasons none but impious Rebelsuse: Those who to Empire by dark paths aspire, Still plead a call to what they most defire; But Kings by free consent their Kingdoms take, Strict as those Sacred Ties which Nuptials make ; And what e're faults in Princes time reveal, None can be Judge where can be no Appeal.

Alib. In all debates you plainly let me fee You love your Vertue best, but Odmar me: Go, your mistaken Piety pursue: I'll have from him what is deny'd by you ;

With my Commands you shall no more be grac'd, Remember, Sir, this trial was your last.

Guy. The gods inspire you with a better mind;
Make you more just, and make you then more kind:
But though from Vertues rules I cannot part,
Think I deny you with a Bleeding Heart:
'Tis hard with me what ever choice I make;
I must not merit you, or must forsake:
But in this streight, to Honour I'le be true,
And leave my Fortune to the gods and you.

Enter a Messenger Privately.

Mess. Now is the time; be aiding to your Fate; From the Watch-Tower, above the Western Gate, I have discern'd the Foe securely lye, Too proud to sear a beaten Enemy:
Their careless Chiefs to the cool Grottoes run, The Bowers of Kings, to shade them from the Sun.
Guy. Upon thy life disclose thy news to none;

I'le make the Conquest or the shame my own.

[Exit Guyomar and Messenger.

Enter Odmar.

Alib. I read fome welcome message in his Eye, Prince Odmar comes: I'le see if he'l deny. Odmar I come to tell you pleasing News, I beg a thing your Brother did resuse.

odm. The News both pleases me and grieves me too; For nothing, sure, should be deny'd to you:

But he was blest that might commanded be ; You never meant that happiness to me.

Alib. What he refus'd your kindness might bestow, But my Commands, perhaps, your burden grow.

odw. Could I but live till burdensome they prove,

My Life would be immortal as my Love. Your wish, e're it receive a name I grant.

Alib. 'Tis to relieve your dying Countries want; All hopes of fuecour from your Arms is past, To save us now you must our Ruine haste;

G 2

Give

Give up the Town, and to oblige him more,

The Captive General's liberty restore.

odm. You speak to try my Love, can you forgive

So foon, to let your Brother's Murderer live?

Alib. Orbellan, though my Brother, did disgrace With treacherous Deeds, our Mighty Mothers Race; And to revenge his Blood, so justly spilt,

What is it less then topartake his guilt?

Though my Proud Sifter to revenge incline,.

I to my Country's good my own relign.

Odm. To fave our Lives our Freedom I betray----

Yet fince I promis'd it I will obey;
I'le not my Shame nor your Commands dispute:

You shall behold your Empire's absolute. [Exit Odmar.

Alib. I should have thank'd him for his speedy grant 3

And yet I know not how, fit words I want : Sure I am grown distracted in my mind,

That joy this grant should bring I cannot find :

The one, denying, vex'd my Soul before;

And this, obeying, has disturb'd me more:

The one, with grief, and flowly did refuse, The other, in his grant, much haste did use:

He us'd too much-----and granting me fo foon,

He has the merit of the gift undone:

Methought with wondrous case, he swallow'd down

His forfeit Honour, to betray the Town:

My inward choice was Guyomar before,

But now his Vertue has confirm'd me more----

___Irave, I rave, for Odmar will obey,

And then my promise must my choice betray. Fantastick Honour, thou hast fram'd a toyl

Thy felf, to make thy Love thy Vertues spoyl.

Exit Alibech.

SCENE III.

A pleasant Grotto discover'd: in it a Fountain spouting; round about it Vasquez, Pizarro, and other Spaniards lying carelessy un-arm'd, and by them many Indian Women, one of which Sings the following Song.

SONG.

Ab fading joy, how quickly art thou past?

Yet we thy ruine haste:
As if the cares of Humane Life were few

We seek out new:
And follow Fase that does too fast pursue.

See how on every bough the Birds express
In their sweet notes their happiness.
They all enjoy, and nothing spare;
But on their Mather Nature lay their care:
Why then should Man, the Lord of all below
Such troubles chuse to know.
As none of all his Subjects undergo?

Hark, bark, the Waters fall, fall, fall;
And with a Mucmuring found.

Daft, daft, upon the ground,

To gentle stumbers call.

After the Song two Spaniards arife and Dance a Saraband with Castanieta's: at the end of which, Guyomar and his Indian's enter, and e're the Spaniards can recover their Swords, seiza them.

But see these streight conducted to the King.

Piz. Vasquez, what now remains in these extreams?

Vasq. Only to wake us from our Golden Dreams.

Piz. Since by our fnameful conduct, we have lost Freedom, Wealth, Honour, which we value most, I wish they would our Lives a Period give:

They Live too long who Happiness out-live.

[Spaniards are led out.

1 Ind. See, Sir, how quickly your success is spread: The King comes Marching in the Armies head.

Enter Montezuma, Alibech, Odmar, Discontented.

Mont. Now all the gods reward and bless my Son: [Embracing.

Thou hast this day, thy Fathers Youth out-done.

Alib. Just Heaven such Happiness upon him shower,

Till it confess it's will beyond it's power.

Guy. The heavens are kind, the gods propitious be,

I only doubt a Mortal Deity:

I neither Fought for Conquest, nor for Fame, Your Love alone can recompence my Flame.

Alib. I gave my Love to the most brave in War;

But that the King must Judge.

Mont. Tis Guyomar.

[Souldiers front, A Guyomar, &c.

Mont. This day your Nuptials we will Celebrate; But guard these haughty Captives till their Fate: Odmar, this night to keep them be your care, To morrow for their Sacrifice prepare.

Alib. Blot not your Conquest with your Cruelty.

Mont. Fate fays we are not fafe unless they Dye :

The Spirit that fore-told this happy day, Bid meuse Caution, and avoid delay:

Posterity be juster to my Fame;

Nor call it Murder, when each private Man

In his defence may justly do the same :

But private persons more then Monarchs can: All weigh our Acts, and what e're seems unjust, Impute not to Necessity, but Lust.

Exennt Montezuma, Guyomar, and Alibech.

Odm. Lost and undone! he had my Fathers voice, And Alibech seem'd pleas'd with her new choice: Alas, it was not new! too late I see

Siece

Since one she hated, that it must be me .---- I feel a strange Temptation in my will To do an action, great at once and ill: Vertue ill treated, from my Soul is fled; I by Revenge and Love am wholly led: Yet Conscience would against my rage Rebel-Conscience, the foolish pride of doing well ! Sink Empire, Father Perith, Brother Fall, Revenge does more then recompence you all. - Conduct the Pris'ners in-Spaniards, you fee your own deplor'd Estate: SEnter Vasquez Pizarro. What dare you do to reconcile your Fate? Vasq. All that Despair, with Courage joyn'd can do. Odm. An easie way to Victory I'le show : When all are Buried in their Sleep or Joy, I'le give you Arms, Burn, Ravish, and Destroy ; For my one share one Beauty I design, Engage your Honours that the shall be mine. Piz. I gladly Swear. Vafq. --- And I; but I request That, in return, one who has touch'd my breaft, and is the said Whose name I know not, may be given to me. Odm. Spaniard 'tis just; the's yours who e're the be. Vafq. The night comes on : if Fortune bless the bold I shall possess the Beauty. Piz. I the Gold. Exceint Outses, binds her Mate to him, our Leve to " SCENE IV: A Prifon.

Cortez discovered, bound by one Foot, Almeria talking with him.

Alm. I come not now your constancy to prove,
You may believe me when I say I Love.

Cort. You have too well instructed me before,
In your intentions to believe you more.

Alm. I'm justly plagued by rule your unbelief, now a past not and am my self the cause of my own grief:

But to beg Love, I cannot floop so low;
It is enough that you my passion know:
'Tis in your choice; Love me, or Love me not,
I have not yet my Brother's Death forgot.

Lays bold on the Dagger.

Cort. You Menace me and Court me in a breath:

Your Cupid looks as dreadfully as Death.

Alm. Your hopes, without, are vanish'd into smoak :

Your Captains taken, and your Armies broke.

Cort. In vain you urge me with my miseries:

When Fortune falls high Courages can rise.

Now should I change my Love, it would appear

Not the effect of gratitude, but fear.

Alm. I'le to the King, and make it my Request,
Or my Command that you may be releast;
And make you Judge, when I have set you free,
Who best deserves your passion, I, or she.

Cort. You tempt my Faith so generous a way, As without guilt might constancy betray:
But I'm so far from meriting elteem,
That if I Judge, I must my self Condemn;
Yet having given my worthless heart before,
What I must not possess I'le still adore;
Take my devotion then this humbler way;
Devotion is the Love which Heaven we pay.

[Kiffes ber band.

Enter Cydaria.

Cyd. May I believe my Eyes! what do I fee!

Is this her Hate to him, his Love to me!

Tis in my Breast she she her Dagger now.

False Man, is this the Faith? is this the Vow?

Cort. What words, dear Saint, are these I hear you use?

What Faith, what Vows are these which you accuse?

Cyd. More cruel then the Tyger o're his spoyl;
And salser then the Weeping Crocodile:
Can you adde Vanity to Guilt, and take
A Pride to hear the Conquests which you make?
Go publish your Renown, let it be said
You have a Woman, and that Lov'd, betray'd.

Cort.

Cort. With what injustice is my Faith accus'd?
Life, Freedom, Empire, I at once refus'd;
And would again ten thousand times for you.

Alm. She'l have too great content to find him true;

And therefore fince his Love is not for me, I'le help to make my Rivals misery.

Spaniard, I never thought you false before:

Can you at once two Mistresses adore?

Keep the poor Soul no longer in suspence, Your change is such as does not need defence.

Cort. Riddles like these I cannot understand!

Alm. Why should you blush? she saw you kiss my hand.

cyd. Fear not, I will, while your first Love's deny'd,

Favour your shame, and turn my Eyes aside; My feeble hopes in her deserts are lost:

I seither can such power nor beauty boast :

I have no tye upon you to be true

But that which loofned yours, my Love to you.

Cort. Could you have heard my words !

Cyd. -----Alas, what needs

To hear your words, when I beheld your deeds?

Cort. What shall I say ! the Fate of Love is such,

As still it sees too little or too much.

That act of mine which does your passion move

Was but a mark of my Respect, not Love.

Alm. Vex not your felf excuses to prepare:

For one you love not is not worth your care.

Cort. Cruel Almeria take that life you gave;

Since you but worse destroy me, while you save.

Cyd. No, let me dye, and I'le my claim refign; For while I live, methinks you should be mine.

Cort. The Bloodiest Vengeance which she could pursue,

Would be a triffle to my loss of you.

6yd. Your change was wife : for had the been deny'd,

A fwift Revenge had follow'd from her Pride: You from my gentle Nature had no Fears,

All my Revenge is only in my Tears.

Afide.

To bim.

(50) Cort. Can your imagine I fo mean could prove, To fave my Life by changing of my Love? Cyd. Since Death is that which Nat rally we shun, You did no more then I, perhaps, had done. Cort. Make me not doubt, Fair Soul, your constancy; You would have dy'd for Love, and so would I. Alm. You may believe him; you have feen it prov'd. Cort. Can I not gain belief how I have Lov'd? What can thy ends, Inhumane Creature be: Can he who kill'd thy Brother live for thee? A noyle of Closhing of Swords. [Valquez within, Indians against him. Vala. Yield Slaves or dyesour Swords shall force our way. within. Ind. We cannot, though o'se-powr'd, our trust betray. [within. Cort. 'Tis Vasquez voice, he brings me Liberty. Vaja. Alm. Rival, I must your jealous Thoughts remove,

Alm. Ah! Curfed Woman, what was my defign!

At least this Weapon both our Blood shall joyn.

[Goes to stab her felf, and being within his reach he fnatches the Dagger.

· Cort. Now neither Life nor Death are in your power. Alm. Then fullenly I'le wait my Fatal hour.

Enter Vasquez and Pizarro with drawn Swords.

Vasq. He Lives, he Lives.

Cort. - Unfetter me with fpeed;

Vajquez, I fee you troubled that I bleed: But 'tis not deep, our Army I can head.

Valq. You to a certain Victory are led; Your Men all Arm'd, stand filently within

I with your Freedom, did the work begin.

Piz. What Friends we have, and how we came to strong,

We'l foftly tell you as we March along.

Cort. In this safe place let me secure your fear : To Cydaria,

No Clashing Swords, no Noyse can enter here.

Amidst our Arms as quiet you shall be As Halcyons Brooding on a Winter Sea.

Cyd. Leave me not here alone, and full of fright,

Amidst the Terrors of a Dreadful night: You judge, alas, my Courage by your own,

I never durst in Darkness be alone:

I beg, I throw me humbly at your Feet.---

Cort. You must not go where you may dangers meet.

Th' unruly Sword will no distinction make :

And Beauty will not there give Wounds but take.

Alm. Then stay and take me with you; though to be

A Slave to wait upon your Victory.

My Heart unthov'd, can Noyse and Horrour bear:

Parting from you is all the Death I fear.

Cort.

You neither must stay here, nor go with me.

Alm. Then take my Life, that will my rest restore:

'Tis all I ask for faving yours before.

Cort. That were a Barbarous return of Love.
Alm. Yet leaving it you more inhumane prove:

In both extreams I fome relief should find:

Oh either hate me more, or be more kind.

Cort. Life of my Soul do not my absence Mourn :

But chear thy Heart in hopes of my return. [To Cydaria.

Thy Noble Father's Life shall be my care 3. And both thy Brothers I'm oblig'd to spare.

Cyd. Fate makes you Deaf while I in vain implore,

My Heart forebodes I ne'r shall see you more: I have but one request, when I am Dead Let not my Rival to your Love succeed.

Cort. Fate will be kinder then your Fears fore-tell ;

Farewel my Dear.

Cort. I melt to Womanish Tears, and if I stay,

I find my. Love my Courage will betray; You Tower will keep you fafe, but be so kind

To your own Life that none may entrance find.

Cyd. Then lead me there ____ [He leads ber.

For this one Minute of your Company, I go methinks, with some content to Dye.

Exeunt Cortez, Vasquez, Pizarro, Cydaria.

What Dismal Fortune does for me remain!
Night and Despair my Fatal Foot-steps guide;

That Chance may give the Death which he deny'd. [Exit.

[Cortez, Vasquez, Pizarro, and Spaniards, return again. Cort. All hold dear, I trust to your defence; [To Pizarro.

Guard her, and on your Life, remove not hence.

[Exeunt Cortez, and Yafquez.

Piz. I'le venture that-The gods are good; I'le leave her to their care, Steal from my Post, and in the Plunder share.

ACT V. SCENE I.

The Chamber Royal, an Indian Hamock discover'd in it.

Enter Odmar with Souldiers, Guyomar, Alibech, bound.

Odm. TAte is more just then you to my desert, And in this Act you blame, Heaven takes my part, Guy. Can there be Gods, and no Revenge provide? Odm. The gods are ever of the Conquering fide: She's now my Queen, the Spaniards have agreed I to my Fathers Empire shall succeed. Alib. How much I Crowns contemn I let thee fee, Chusing the younger and refusing thee. Guy. Were the Ambitious, the'd difdain to own The Pageant Pomp of Such a Servile Throne: A Throne which thou by Parricide do'ft gain, And by most base submission must retain. Alib. I Lov'd thee not before, but, Odmar, know That now I hate thee and despife thee too. odm. With too much Violence you Crimes pursue, Which if I Acted 'twas for Love of you: This, if it teach not Love, may teach you Fear : I brought not Sin fo far, to stop it here.

Death in a Lovers Mouth, would found but ill: But know, I either must enjoy, or Kill.

Alib. Bestow, base Man, thy idle Threats elsewhere: My Mothers Daughter knows not how to Fear. Since, Guyomar, bmuft not be thy Bride, Death shall enjoy what is to thee deny'd. odm. Then t ke thy wish,____

· Guy. Hold, Odmar, hold:

My right in Alibech I will refign 3

Rather then see her Dye, I'le see her thine.

Alib. In vain thou would'st resign, for I will be, Even when thou leav'st me, Constant still to thee: That shall not save my Life: wilt thou appear Fearful for her who for her felf wants Fear ?

odm. Her Love to him shows me a surer way :

I by her Love, her Vertue must betray: Since, Alibech, you are so true a Wife;

'Tis in your power to fave your Husbands Life:

The gods, by me, your Love and Vertue try: For both will suffer if you let him Dye.

Alib. I never can believe you will proceed

To fuch a Black and Execrable Deed.

odm. I only threatn'd you; but could not prove

So much a Fool to Murder what I Love: But in his Death, I some advantage see:

Worse then it is I'm sure it cannot be.

If you consent, you with that gentle Breath Preserve his Life: I'le not behold his Death.

[Holds his Sword to his breaft.

T Alide.

To ber.

Alib. What shall I do!

Guy. - What are your thoughts at strife

About a ranfom to preferve my Life?

Though to fave yours I did my Interest give,

Think not when you were his I meant to Live.

Alib. O let him be preserv'd by any way:
But name not the foul price that I must pay.

[To Odmar.

Odm. You would and would not, I'le no longer stay.

Offers again to Kill him.

Alib. I yield, I yield, but yet e're I am ill,

An innocent delire I would fulfil:

With Guyomar I one Chast Kiss would leave,

The first and last he ever can receive.

Odm. Have what you ask: that Minute you agree

To my desires, your Husband shall be free.

[They unbind her, fle goes to her Husband.

Guy. No, Alibech, we never must embrace : Your guilty kindness why do you mis-place? Tis meant to him, he is your private Choice: I was made yours but by the publick Voice. And now you leave me with a poor pretence, That your ill Act is for my life's defence.

Alib. Since there remains no other means to try,

Think I am falle ; I cannot fee you dye.

Guy. To give for me both Life and Honour too Is more, perhaps, then I could give for you. You have done much to cure my Jealousie, But cannot perfect it unless both Dye: For fince both cannot Live, who stays behind Must think the other fearful, or unkind.

Alib. I never could propose that Death you chuse; But am like you, too jealous to refuse. Embracing him.

Together dying, we together show

That both did pay that Faith that both did owe.

odw. It then remains I act my own defign : Have you your wills, but I will first have mine. Affift me Spuldiers.

> [They go to bind her, fbe cries out. Enter Valquez, two Spaniards.

Valq. Hold, Odurar, hold, I come in happy time To hinder my Misfortupe, and your Crime. odm. You ill return the kindness I have shown.

Vafq. Indian, I fay defift.

Odm. - Spaniard, be gone.

Valq. This Lady I did for my felf delign: Dare you attempt her Honour who is mine?

Odm. Your'e much mistaken; this is the whom I 'Did with my Father's lofs, and Countries buy : She whom your promife did to me convey,

When all things elfe-were made your common prey-Vafq. That promife made excepted one for me 4

One whom I still referv'd, and this is the.

Odm. This is not the, you cannot be fo bale.

He turns Sfrom ber.

Vafq.

CHY.

Vasq. I Love too deeply to mistake the Face: The Vapquish'd must receive the Victors Laws.

Odm. If I am Vanquish'd I my self am Cause.

Vafq. Then thank your felf for what you undergo. Odm. Thus Lawless Might does Justice overthrow. Vafq. Traytors, like you, should never Justice name.

odm. You owe your Triumphs to that Traytors shame.

But to your General I'le my right refer.

Vafq. He never will protect a Ravisher : His Generous Heart will foon decide our strife; He to your Brother will restore his Wife.

It rests we two our claim in Combat try,

And that with this fair prize, the Victor flye.

Odm. Make hafte,

I cannot fuffer to be long perplext:

Conquest is my first wish, and Death my next.

They Fight, the Spaniards and Indians Fight.

Alib. The gods the Wicked by themselves o'rethrow:

All Fight against us now and for us too ! [Unbinds her Husband. The two Spaniards and three Indians kill each other, Vasquez kills Odmar, Guyomar runs to his Brothers Sword.

Vefq. Now you are mine ; my greatest Foe is slain. To Alibech.

Guy. A greater still to Vanquish does remain.

Vasq. Another yet!

The Wounds I make but fow new Enemies:

Which from their Blood, like Earth-born-brethren rife.

Guy. Spaniard take breath : some respit I'le afford,

My Cause is more advantage then your Sword.

Vala. Thou art fo brave----could it with Honour be,

I'd feek thy Friendship, more then Victory.

Guy. Friendship with him whose hand did Odmar kill!

Base as he was, he was my Brother still :

And fince his Blood has wash'd away his guilt, Nature asks thine for that which thou hast spilt.

They Fight a little and breath, Alibech takes up a Sword and comes on.

Alib. My weakness may help something in the strife.

Guy. Kill not my Honour to preserve my Life: [Staying ber. Rather then by thy aid I'le Conquest gain, Without desence I poorly will be slain.

She goes back, they Fight again, Vafquez falls.

Cuy. Now, Spaniard, beg thy Life and thou shalt live. Vasq. I scorn to ask thee what thou canst not give:

My breath goes out, and I am now no more;

Yether I Lov'd, in Death I will adore. [Dyes.

Gny. Come, Alibech, let us from hence remove:
This is a night of Horror, not of Love.
From every part I hear a dreadful noyse:
The Vanquish'd Crying and the Victor's Joys.
I'le to my Father's aid and Countries flye;
And succour both, or in their Raine Dye.

SCENEII. APrifon.

Montezuma, Indian High Priest bound, Pizarro, Spaniards with swords drawn, a Christian Priest.

Piz. Thou hast not yet discover'd all thy store.

Mont. I neither can nor will discover more:

The gods will Punish you, if they be Just; The gods will Plague your Sacrilegious Lust.

Chr. Prieft. Mark how this impious Heathen justifies

His own false gods, and our true God denies: How wickedly he has refus'd his wealth,

And hid his Gold, from Christian hands, by stealth :

Down with him, Kill him, merit Heaven thereby.

Ind. High Pr. Can Heaven be Author of such Cruelty?

Piz. Since neither threats nor kindness will prevail.

We must by other means your minds assail; Fasten the Engines; stretch 'um at their length,

And pull the streightned Cords with all your strength.

They fiften them to the rack, and then pull them.

Mont. The gods, who made me once a King, shall know

I still am worthy to continue fo:

Though

Though now the subject of your Tyranny, I'le Plague you worse then you can punish me. Know I have Gold, which you shall never find, No Pains, no Tortures shall unlock my Mind.

Chr. Pr. Pull harder yet; he does not feel the rack.

Mont. Pull till my Veins break, and my Sinews crack.

Ind. High Pr. When will you end your Barb'rous Cruelty?

Ibeg not to escape, I beg to Dye.

Mont. Shame on thy Priest-hood that such pray'rs can bring :

Is it not brave to fuffer with thy King?

When Monarchs suffer, gods themselves bear part;
Then well may'st thou, who but my Vassal art:
I charge thee dare not groan, nor shew one sign,
Thou at thy Torments does the least repine.

Ind. High. P. You took an Oath when you receiv'd your Crown, The Heavens should pour their usual Blessings down; The Sun should shine, the Earth it's fruits produce, And nought be wanting to your Subjects use:

Yet we with Famine were opprest, and now Must to the yoke of Cruel Masters bow.

Mont. If those above, who made the World, could be Forgetful of it, why then blam'it thou me ?

Chr. Pr. Those Pains, O Prince, thou sufferest now are light Compar'd to those, which when thy Soul takes flight,

Immortal, endless, thou must then endure :

Which Death begins, and Time can never cure.

Mont. Thou art deceiv'd: for whensoe're I Dye,
The Sun my Father bears my Soul on high:
He lets me down a Beam, and mounted there,
He draws it back, and pulls me through the Air:
I in the Eastern parts, and rifing Sky,

You in Heaven's downfal, and the West must lye.

Chr. Pr. Fond man, by Heathen Ignorance milled, Thy Soul destroying when thy Body's Dead:

*Change yet thy Faith, and buy Eternal rest.

Ind. High Pr. Dye in your own: for our Belief is best.

But in the search, the paths so different be,

That

That all Religions with each other Fight,
While only one can lead us in the Right.
But till that one hath some more certain mark,
Poor humane kind must wander in the dark;
And suffer pains, eternally below,
For that, which here, we cannot come to know.

Chr. Pr. That which we worship, and which you believe,

From Natures common hand we both receive: All under various names, Adore and Love One power Immense, which ever rules above.

Vice to abhor, and Virtue to pursue, Is both believ'd and taught by us and you: But here our Worship takes another way.

For what's more vain then Publick Light to flun,
And fet up Tapers while we fee the Sun?

Chr.Fr. Though Nature teaches whom we should Adore.

By Heavenly Beams we still discover more.

Mont. Or this must be enough, or to Mankind One equal way to Bliss is not design'd. For though some more may know, and some know less, Yet all must know enough for happiness.

Chr. Pr. If in this middle way you still pretend To stay, your Journey never will have end.

Mont. Howe're, 'twas better in the midst to stay, Then wander farther in uncertain way.

Chr Pr. But we by Martyrdom our Faith avow.

Mont. You do no more then I for ours do now.

chr. Pr.. Since Age by erring hild-hood is milled,

Refer your felf to our Un-erring Head.

Mont. Man and not erre! what reason can you give?
Chr. Pr. Renounce that carnal reason, and believe.

Mont.

Mont. The Light of Nature should I thus betray, 'Twere to wink hard that I might see the day.

Chr. Pr. Condemn not yet the way you do not know;

I'le make your reason judge what way to go.

Mont. Tis much too late for me new ways to take,

Who have but one short step of life to make.

Piz. Increase their Pains, the Cords are yet too slack. Chr. Pr.. I must by force, convert him on the Rack.

Ind. High Pr. I faint away, and find I can no more:

Give leave, O King, I may reveal thy store, And free my self from pains I cannot bear.

Mont. Think'st thou I lye on Beds of Roses here,

Or in a Wanton Bath stretch'd at my ease?

Dye, Slave, and with thee, dye fuch thoughts as thefe.

[High Priest turns aside and dyes.

Enter Cortez attended by Spaniards, he speaks entring. Cort.. On pain of death kill none but those that fight;

I much repent me of this bloody night: Slaughter grows murder when it goes too far,

And makes a Massacre what was a War: Sheath all your weapons and in silence move,

'Tis facred here to Beauty and to Love.

Ha----- [Sees Montezuma.

Cors. What difmal fight is this, which takes from me All the delight that waits on Victory!

Runs to take him off the Rack.

Make haste: how now, Religion do you Frown?

Hafte holy Avarice, and help him down.

Ah Father, Father, what do I endure [Embracing Montezuma.

To fee these Wounds my pity cannot Cure!

Mont. Am I so low that you should pity bring,

And give an Infants Comfort to a King?

Ask these if I have once unmanly groan'd;

Or ought have done deferving to be moan'd.

Cort. Did I not charge thou should'st not stir from hence? [To But Martial Law shall punish thy offence. Pizarro.

And you,

[To the Chr. Prieft.

Who fawcily, teach Monarchs to obey, And the wide World in narrow Cloysters sway; Set up by Kings as humble aids of power, You that which bred you, Viper-like devour, You Enemies of Crowns.

Chr. Pr. Come, let's away, We but provoke his fury by our stay.

Cort. If this go free, farewel that distipline
Which did in Spanish Camps severely shine:
Accursed Gold, 'tis thou hast caus'd these crimes;
Thou turn'st our Steel against thy Parent Climes!
And into Spain wilt satally be brought,
Since with the price of Blood thou here art bought.

[Excunt Priest and Pizarro.

Cort. Can you forget those Crimes they did commit?

Mont. I'le do what for my dignity it fit:

Rife, Sir, I'm fatisfi'd the fault was theirs: Trust me you make me weep to see your Tears: Must I chear you?

Cort. Ah Heavens!

You're much to blame;
Your grief is cruel, for it shews my shame,
Does my lost Crown to my remembrance bring:
But weep not, you and I'le be still a King.
You have forgot that I your Death design'd,
To satisfie the Proud Almeria's mind:
You, who preserv'd my Life, I doom'd to Dye.

Cort. Your Love did that, and not your Cruelty.

Enter a Spaniard.

Span. Prince Guyomar the Combat still maintains, Our Men retreat, and he their ground regains: But once incourag'd by our Generals sight, We boldly should renew the doubtful Fight.

Cort. Remove not hence, you shall not long attend: To Mon-I'le aid my Souldiers, yet preserve my Friend. Lezuma.

Mont. Excellent Man!

[Exit Cortez, &c.

But I, by living, poorly take the way To injure Goodness, which I cannot pay. Enter Almeria.

Alm, Ruine and Death run Arm'd through every Street; And yet that Fate I feek I cannot meet: What guards Misfortunes are.! Such is th' infectious strength of Misery, Death that strikes all, yet seems afraid of me.

Mont. Almeria's here: oh turn away your Face !

Must you be witness too of my disgrace?

Alm. I am not that Almeria whom you knew,

But want that pity I deny d to you :

Your Conquerour, alas, has Vanquish'd me;

But he refuses his own Victory:

While all are Captives, in your Conquer'd State,

I find a wretched freedom in his hate.

Mont. Could'it thou thy Love on one that fcorn'd thee lofe? He faw not with my Eyes who could refuse: Him that could prove fo much unkind to thee, I ne're will fuffer to be kind to me.

Alm. I am content in Death to share your Fate;

And dye for him I love with him I hate.

Mont. What shall I do in this perplexing streight !

My tortur'd Limbs refuse to bear my weight: (Endeavouring to I cannot go to Death to fet me free: walk and not be-Death must be kind, and come himself to me. (ing able.

Alm. I've thought upon't : I have Affairs below, [Alm .mufing.

Which I must needs dispatch before I go :

Sir, I have found a place, where you may be, To him.

(Though not preferv'd) yet like a King dye free : The General left your Daughter in the Tower, We may a while refift the Spaniards power,

If Guyomar prevail, -Hafte then, and call; Mont.

She'l hear your Voice, and answer from the Wall.

Alm. My voice she knows and fears, but use your own, And to gain entrance, feign you are alone, [Almeria fteps behind.

Mont. Cydaria !

Alm. Lowder.

Mont. Daughter!

Alm. Lowder yet.

Mont. Thou canst not, fure, thy Father's voice forget.

[He knocks at the door, at last Cydaria looks over the Zoty.

Cyd. Since my Love went, I have been frighted so, With Dismal Groans, and Noyses from below:
I durst not send my Eyes abroad, for fear
Of seeing dangers, which I yet but hear.

Mont. Cydaria!

All hope of succour, but from thee is past:

As on the sand the frighted Traveller

Sees the high Sea come rolling from a far,

The Land grow short, he mends his weary pace,

While Death behind him covers all the place:

So I by swift mis-fortunes are pursued,

Which on each other are like Waves renew'd.

Cyd. Are you alone

Mont. ___ l'am.

Heaven did you here for both our fafeties fend.

[Cyclaria descends and opens the door, Almeria rushes betwiext with Montezuma.

Cyd. Almeria here! then I am lost again. [Both thruft.

Alm. Yield to my strength, you struggle but in vain:

Make haste and shut, our Enemies appear.

[Cortez and Spaniards appear at the other end.

cyd. Then do you enter, and let me stay here.

[As she speaks, Almeria ocur-powers her. shrufts her in, and shuts.

cyd. Oh Heavens!

Cort. Sure I both heard her voice and faw her face, She's like a Vision, vanish'd from the place:

Too

Too late I find my absence was too long; My hopes grow lickly, and my fears grow strong.

He knocks a little, then Montezuma, Cydaria,

Those whom, in vain, you think to find below.

Cyd. Look up and see Cydaria's lost estate.

Mont. And cast one look on Montezuma's Fate.

Cort. Speak not such dismal words as wound my Ear:

Nor name Death to me when Cydaria's there.

Despair not, Sir, who knows but Conquering Spain

May part of what you lost restore again?

Mont. No, Spaniard, know, he who to Empire born,

Lives to be less, deserves the Victors scorn:

Kings and their Crowns have but one Destiny:

Power is their Life, when that expires they dye.

Cyd. What Dreadful Words are these!

Tis now a Torture worfe then all I bore:

I'le not be brib'd to fuffer Life, but dye In fpight of your miltaken Clemency.

I was your Slave, and I was us'd like one;

The Shame continues when the Pain is gone:

But I'm a King while this is in my Hand, ---- [His Sword.

He wants no Subjects who can Death Command: You should have ty'd him up, t'have Conquer'd me,

But he's still mine, and thus he sets me free. [Stabs bimself.

Cid. Oh my dear Father !

cort .- Haste, break ope the door.

[The Souldiers break open the first door, and goin.

We shall have time enough to take our way,

'Ere any can our Fatal Journey stay.

Mont. Already mine is past: O powers divine

Take my last thanks; no longer I repine:

I might have liv'd my own mishaps to Mourn,

While some would Pity me, but more would Scorn?

For Pity only on fresh Objects stays:

But with the tedious fight of Woes decays.

Still less and less my boyling Spirits flow;

And I grow stiff as cooling Mettals do:

Farewel Almeria.

[Dyes.

Cod. — He's gone, he's gone,

And leaves poor me defenceless here alone.

Alm. You shall not long be so : prepare to Dye,

That you may bear your Pather, Company.

Cyd. Oh name not Death to mes you fright me fo, That with the Fear I shall prevent the blow:

I know your Mercy's more, then to destroy

A thing fo young, fo Innocent, as I.

Cort. Whence can proceed thy cruel thirst of Blood, Ah Barb'rous Woman? Woman! that stoo good, Too mild for thee: there's pity in that name, But thou hast lost thy pity, with thy shame.

Alm. Your cruel words have pierc'd me to the Heart ;

But on my Rival, I'le revenge my fmart.

Cort. Oh flay your hand ! and to redeem my fault,

I'le speak the kindest words

That Tongue e're utter'd, or that Heart e're thought.

Dear Lovely Sweet

Alm. These words offend me more, You act your kindness on Endarie's score.

Cyd. For his dear fake let me my Life receive.

Revenue is now my love he's not forms.

Revenge is now my Joy; he's not for me, And I'le make fure he ne're shall be for thee.

cyd. But what's my Crime?

Alm .- Tis Loving where I Love.

Cyd. Your own example does my act approve.

Alm. Tis such a Fault I never can forgive.

Cyd. How can I mend, unless you let me live? I yet am Tender, Young, and full of Fear,

And dare not Dye, but fain would tarry here.

Cort. If Blood you feek, I will my own refign:

O spare her Life, and in exchange, take mine.

Alm The Love you flew but haftes her Death the more:

Cort.

Cort. I'le run, and help to force the inner door.

[Is going in bafte.

Alm. Stay, Spaniard, stay, depart not frem my Eyes: That moment that I lose your fight, she dyes.

To look on you I'le grant a fhort Reprieve.

Cort. O make your gift more full, and let her Live :

I dare not go; and yet how dese I flay! Her I would fave, I murder either way.

My ripening hopes, that are long to deft say I just approach to all I would pesses:

Death only stands 'twixt me and happines.

Alm. Your Father, with his Life, has loft his Throne: .
Your Countries Freetham anth Renown is good.

Honour requires your Death : you mult obey.

Cyd. Do you dye first sand show me than the way:

Alm. Should you not follow my Revenge were lost.

Cyd. Then rise again, and Fright mo with your Ghost.

Alm. I will-not truft to that , lines Doath Cobule,

I'le not leave you that Life which I refife:

If Death's a pain well not believe me;

And if 'tis nothing, 'tis no more to thee.

But hark ! the noyle increases from behind,

They're near, and may prevent the I design.

They're near, and may prevent what I delign'd: Take, there's a Rival's gift.

cert. Perdition Ricothec for so Black a Doed.

Alm. Blame not an Act that did from Love proceed:
I'le thus Revenge thee with this Fatabblow; [Stabs ber felf.

Stand fair, and let my Heart-blood on the flow.

Cyd. Stay Life, and keepme in the chearful Light;
Death is too Black, and dwells in too much Night.
Thou leav it me, Life; but Love supplies thy part;
And keeps me warm by linguing in my Heart:
Yet dying for him, I thy claim remove;
How dear it costs to Conquerin my Love!
Now strike: that thought I hope, will arm my Breast.

Alm. Ah, with what differing passions am I prest !

Gyd. Death, when far off, did terrible appear;
But looks less dreadful as be comes more near.

Alm. O River, I have loft the power to kill;
Strength harderlook my Arm, and Rage my will:
I must furmount that Love which thou hast shown:

Dying for him is due to me alone.

Thy weakness shall not book the Victory,

Now thou shalt live, and dead fle Conquer thee:

Souldiers affift me down.

[Excurt from above led by Souldiers, and enter book led by Cortez.

Cort. Is there no danger then?

My Wound, I cannot dye when you are near.

Cort. You for my fake, Life to Cadaria give:

[To Almeria.

To Cydaria.

And I could dye for you, if you might Live.

Alm. Enough, I dye content, now you are kind;

Kill'd in my Limbs, reviving in my Mind: Come near, Cydaria, and forgive my Crime.

[Cydaria Garts back.

You need not fear my rage a fecond time:
I'le bathe your Wounds in Tears for my Offence:
That Hand which made it makes this Recompence.

Ready to join their bands.

I would have joyn'd you, but my Heart's too high :

EPILOGUE

BYA

Mercury.

O all and fingular in this full meeting, Ladies and Gallants, Phoebus fends me greeting. To all his Sons by what e're Title known, Whether of Court, of Coffee-house, or Town; From his most mighty Sons, whose confidence Is plac'd in lofty found, and humble fence, Evin to bis little Infants of the Time That Write new Songs, and trust in Tune and Rhyme. Be't known that Phoebus (being daily griev'd To fee good Plays condemn'd, and bad receiv'd,) Ordains your judgement upon every Caufe, Henceforth be limited by wholesome Laws. He first thinks fit no Sonnettier advance His censure, farther then the Song or Dance. Your Wit Burlefque may one flep bigber climb, And in his Sphere may judge all Doggrel Rhyme: All proves, and moves, and Loves, and Honours too: All that appears high fence, and scarce is low. As for the Coffee-wits be fays not much, Their proper bus'mefs is to Damn the Dutch :

For

Phoebus gives them full priviledge stone
To Damn all others, and cry up their own.
Last, for the Ladies, 'tis Apollo's will,
They should have pow'r to save, but not to kill:
For Love and He long since have thought it sit,
Wit live by Beauty, Beauty raign by Wit.
